Gospel Jesus Only Legend?

VANCOUVER (CP) — A University of B.C. professor said Monday the Jesus of the Christian gospel never existed.

Avrum Stroll, a philosophy professor, said a Jesus probably did exist but so many legends have grown about him that it is impossible for scholars to find out anything about the real man.

The gospels of St. Matthew, St. Mark, St. Luke and St. John were written long after Jesus was crucified and provide no reliable historical information about him, Prof. Stroll told 500 UBC students in a talk sponsored by the university's philosophy club.

No Medication Can Treat Elderly People's Forgetfulness

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: My mother's memory is becoming very poor. She is 62. The doctor has diagnosed it as blood cholesterol "senilis," and wants her placed in a state institution for treatment.

We do not wish to do this as she is not insane, just quite forgetful. Wouldn't it be possible by diet and medication to treat her at home? Will treatment cause her to recover from this type of sickness? How long would it take?—E.E.A.

The cholesterol is an indication of what has been occurring, and changing its level isn't calculated to undo previous damage.

In all probability severe hardening of the arteries has taken place in the brain, impairing memory. To be sure, there may be some other condition, too, and I would have no way of knowing about that, but I don't think it matters much so far as your basic question is concerned.

Hardened arteries won't "unharden." There may be moments in which your mother's memory may be clear, but I regret to say that there is no indication that either medication or diet of any kind can restore memory lost from such causes.

You say your doctor "wants" her placed in a state institution. Does he really, or has he simply suggested it?

to the premier, would mean that the downstream entitlement would pay for the cost of the three Columbia treaty dams plus generating facilities at Mica Creek.

EQUIVALENT

He has said that one equivalent to the five mills might be a lower price for the power combined with a compensating factor such as a low-interest rate loan for the capital cost.

He said that while his critics at home accuse him of advocating a power "give-away" to the U.S., some U.S. sources have accused him of "black-mailing" American negotiators into acceptance of stiff terms. Bringing the provincial share of downstream power back into B.C. would be like bringing "coals to Newcastle," he stated.

NOT WORRIED

U.S. threats of alternatives to the Columbia don't worry him.

B.C. negotiators believe none of the alternatives can produce power as cheap as the Columbia project, he said. He believes the low cost combined with the attendant flood control benefits will prove irresistible.

Yesterday Premier Bennett cleared the way for a new approach to Columbia negotiations when he said he would be glad to sit down with a U.S.-appointed super-negotiator to hammer out a final deal.

TO CUT TAPE

Thirty years of fruitless Canada-U.S. bargaining over the St. Lawrence Seaway project had been successfully concluded after the U.S. appointed one-time treasury secretary Robert Anderson as a special negotiator, the premier recalled.

"We need somebody to cut through the red tape," he said.

BALTIMORE, Md.—The remains of a swan were found lodged in the tail stabilizer of a United Airlines plane which crashed and killed 17 persons near here. Dr. Russell E. Fisher, chief Maryland medical examiner, said other pieces of the bird's carcass were found 10 feet from the left stabilizer of the plane.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a growth on the back of my hand near the base of the thumb, about the size of an egg and still growing. It has been there about 3 or 4 years.—J.W.L.

A lump this size that is still growing should be examined by your doctor. It might be a ganglion (tendon cyst), but I am not familiar with one growing to egg size. Surgical removal probably will be necessary.

Dr. Molner: Short of cutting off my hand, isn't there anything I can do about the awful facial whiskers I'm sprouting? Wouldn't female hormones help?—Jane

No, m'am, I don't think they would help, and definitely do not recommend them (except, of course, in cases in which some deep-seated hormonal imbalance is found).

Even more do I discourage cutting off your head! Shaving the "awful facial whiskers" is entirely feasible but, of course, a nuisance. Depilatory creams may solve the problem for you. Or for permanent removal, have the roots destroyed by electric needle. This last is a tedious task, I admit, but effective.

'Laws Create Strife'

Conciliation Machinery Broken Down—Strachan

The machinery of conciliation and arbitration in B.C. is ineffective and in many instances, it has broken down. Opposition Leader Robert Strachan charged last night.

"Laws that were supposed to create labor-management peace have created industrial strife," Mr. Strachan told the Duncan Chamber of Commerce.

There have been attempts recently by some of "the less principled politicians" to make political capital out of the labor-management strife in the province, he said.

"PROPER CLIMATE"

"My concern for years has been to promote a proper climate for both management and labor to settle their differences with reason, understanding and tolerance," he said.

"I am publicly calling for a halt to any and all inflamatory statements, or actions, by editorial writers, by labor, by management and especially by some of our less responsible politicians," Mr. Strachan said.

Saanich Forces Gird Over Amalgamation already well organized by the time Mr. Passmore threw his hat into the ring.

Gordon H. Campbell, 43, of 1515 Oakcrest Drive, who works in the federal income office in Victoria, chaired the Saanich Information Committee which is placing newspaper advertising keyed to a theme that "Saanich taxpayers will pay much more for far less under amalgamation."

"One of the main reasons why I personally resist the amalgamation proposal is that—despite all the arguments about possible effects—it is in my opinion essentially a drive to obtain more money from the residents of Saanich to modernize the business area of Victoria," Mr. Campbell told this reporter.

CITY GROUPS

"Amalgamation would place the control of Saanich in the hands of the more organized groups in the city. As a result, the development of the Saanich area would be restricted while the city centre would flourish, largely at the expense of residents of the Saanich area."

Mr. Passmore, popular in the municipality where he has served more than 20 years on council, will support two incumbent councillors seeking reelection on an anti-amalgamation ticket—Joseph Casey and Harold Todd.

The trio will form a solid, Old-Guard slate for the three available seats. The third is held by Coun. Robert Chard, an advocate of amalgamation.

B.C. Students Win 13 of 28 Prizes

Thirteen British Columbia students were among 28 winners in a Commonwealth-wide essay contest sponsored by the Royal Commonwealth Society. It was reported at a meeting of the Vancouver Island branch of the Society at the Empress Hotel.

Elected to the 1963 executive of the Society were J. A. A. George, chairman; Norman Pittam and Mrs. Margaret Harvey, vice-chairman; Lt. Col. A. C. Allen-Williams, education chairman; W. M. Gage, secretary and T. H. Cressy, treasurer.

Maj-Gen. C. R. Steig, national chairman of the Canadian council of the society, gave a report on the society's national meeting in Ottawa last month.

Coun. Casey, a former reeve, has spearheaded resistance on council to the amalgamation movement since pro-amalgamationists Reeve Stanley Murphy and Coun. Hugh Curtis were elected in December, 1961.

NEVER SINCE

He contends ratepayers indicated by a vote of nearly two-to-one in a 1958 referendum they want no amalgamation with Victoria, and they have never since pushed for a merger.

Coun. Todd has charged amalgamation supporters have given no valid reasons for such a move, and pressure towards amalgamation is being exerted by "a small but powerful group—mainly from outside" the municipality.

Insurance Fund Continues Climb

OTTAWA (CP)—There was a balance of $89,928,000 in the unemployment insurance fund at the end of October as the fund continued to climb from its early-summer low point, the Unemployment Insurance Commission reported Monday.

This compared with $5,616,400 at the end of September and the record low of $19,851,000 reached May 31.

What everyone should know about term insurance!

Term, or temporary, life insurance has many uses—but watch out for possible abuses.

Just as Fire Insurance pays only in the event of fire loss during the life of the policy, so Term Insurance pays only in the event of death before the term expires.

Often The Excelsior Life man will recommend Term Insurance—but only as a temporary coverage where the maximum amount of immediate protection is needed for the least amount of premium. And he endeavours to make certain that this temporary life insurance is converted into permanent personal policies as soon as the owner is able to do so.

There is no equity in Term Insurance which can carry the policy if a due date is missed, and none which builds future security for its owner.

We suggest that you talk to The Excelsior Life representative in your community. He has been selected and trained to help you with all your life insurance problems—and especially assist you to design your own "Blueprint for Security".

Imperialist Russia

CANADA'S CALL to the United Nations' 17-member colonialism committee to devote some of its time to studying the Russian record of tyranny rather than confining its efforts solely to investigating the few remaining Western colonies in Africa and Asia can hardly fail to be heard if the committee is sincere in its attempt to carry out its mandate from the General Assembly.

Since its formation more than a year ago the committee has steadfastly refused to consider the subject nations of the Communist bloc as colonial territories of the U.S.S.R., despite the fact that it is acting upon a broad UN resolution which proclaims "the necessity of bringing to a speedy and unconditional end colonialism in all its forms and manifestations."

Canadian UN delegate Heath MacQuarrie placed matters in their right perspective Friday when he labelled the Soviet Union the greatest imperialist power in the world and demanded that the historic 1960 General Assembly resolution calling for the granting of independence to colonial nations be applied to Russia as well as the Western nations who still administer colonial territories.

Mr. MacQuarrie recalled for the General Assembly the fact that since 1939 a total of 44 nations with a combined population of 840,000,000 people had attained independence from Western colonial status.

"But," he asked, "what about the position of subject people within the Soviet empire? Assessments may vary but there are about 96,000,000 people under Soviet rule who have never been permitted to exercise the right of self-determination which the U.S.S.R. proclaims so loudly for others."

Mr. MacQuarrie's words were as loud and clear as they were indisputable. If the committee of 17 does not act upon them its future findings and reports cannot be considered either valid or complete.

Campsite Policy

DESPITE PROTESTS early in the summer at the extension to more campsites of the system of charging a fee for camping in provincial parks after an initial free stay, this procedure as well as can be judged from this year's figures for Vancouver Island parks has had no deleterious effect on the use of the facilities.

Three big parks north of Nanaimo, it is true, were used less by campers than last year. But had American visitors camped in these parks in the same proportion to British Columbians as in the southern Vancouver Island campsites close to the main highways, the situation would have been entirely different.

Clearly the fall-off north of Nanaimo reflected only last summer's peculiarities of travel: southern Vancouver Island, close to the Seattle World's Fair, had more visitors than usual, but fewer went far up-Island. The weather also was not conducive to outdoor living for much of the time through the holiday months.

Thus it would appear that the policy of charging $2 a night after three days' free stay at a campsite, designed for the twin purposes of deterring "camp-hogs" from staking long-term claims on choice spots and of fostering more camp-to-camp movement and hence wider travel in the province, can hardly be regarded as having had ill effects.

Quite possibly on the contrary in next summer's circumstances, without the Seattle exposition to attract British Columbians away from their own province, with some of the past season's American tourists returning prepared to stay longer, and one hopes with more normal weather, it will be an important factor in bringing about the fullest and fairest use of campsites throughout British Columbia.

A Respected Figure

THE CBC LOST one of its most distinguished executives and the West Coast area a figure of wide cultural pursuit when Ira Dilworth, whose name will always be associated with this city, died last week. Many students and colleagues who came under his influence will remember him with gratitude and affection.

Mr. Dilworth was an example of the educationist who took the broad range of his erudite sympathies to varying fields, leavening the mundane spirit of the workaday world with a talent unsparing in its devotion to the rich heritage of music, books and the communication of those virtues we sum up in the word culture. His contributions to the local, regional and national scenes, from the day he became one of the youngest B.C. high school teachers until he served the CBC in turn as program director and policy consultant, were large and generous.

He will be specially remembered as the helmsman and literary executor of Emily Carr, the artist for whom he won rightful fame and recognition during and after her lifetime. A scholar, editor and anthropologist in his own right, his influence in all that he undertook was quietly beneficial and lasting.

Ira Dilworth enriched the areas he touched with understanding and the fruits of a versatile and well-stocked mind. His life, cut unduly short, was well spent, and many there are who for long will acknowledge their debt to this respected figure of the arts.

Free and 21

MR. RALPH B. COWAN (York-Humber): Mr. Speaker, I have a question that I should like to ask to the Minister of Justice. In this Canadian House of Commons yesterday the Minister of Finance stated that the governor of the Bank of Canada is free, white and 21. A short time later the Secretary of State commented that the BBG and the CBC are also free, white and 21. Would the Minister of Justice tell this House of Commons, where the Canadian Bill of Rights originated some time ago, what virtue lies in being white?

Hon. Donald M. Fleming (Minister of Justice): Mr. Speaker, in reply, may I express the hope that some time soon the hon. member will start to act as though he were 21.

Thinking Aloud

"... of checks, and ships, and sailing wax"

By TOM TAYLOR

A COLLEAGUE along the hall, in a nice piece recalling the vintage of Victoria's elvish past, sees a Barrie touch in the proposed City Hall complex if it eventuates as one hopes it will.

A case, he suggests, of the old lady showing her medals. True it will be and a fine decoration for the local scene, well worth showing off. This is what one does with medals, or is supposed to do. They're not meant to be kept hidden in a drawer, even if a lot of ex-servicemen keep them there.

Any proud old lady wouldn't dream of so deprecating a medal award, especially her late husband's. She wears his medals with a right not conferred by official protocol but not one anyone would deny. A famous admiral once donned his son's VC, not to steal the spotlight for his own eminence was assured, but to emphasize the nature of a crucial parliamentary debate.

And the decoration on his breast was not challenged.

For the most part, after all, medals or equivalent decorations are hardly won. They don't grow on trees for the picking. A few might come up with the rations, as the military cynics aver, but the majority don't come easily. Much blood, sweat, toil and tears have gone into their making.

You wouldn't expect a decorated Boy Scout or Red Cross nurse, for instance, or the hero of a humane society award, to ignore such medals or ribbon symbols when, officially garbed. They are meant to be on view, and with ample warrant, I should hope that if the old lady in question—Victoria—gets the medal my colleague was talking about that she'll present one in turn to the mayor who's pushing the civic centre project.

And that he'd show it off too.

Sometimes you hear of a disgruntled ex-serviceman publicly affecting disdain of his medals and announcing that he's thrown them away. What effect this declaration is meant to have I haven't ever guessed. I doubt it wins him any esteem. Just the other day we read of a duke who is putting his family's Garter insignia up for auction. I'd think he's letting his family down. This insignia isn't exactly a medal but it's a symbol of a game and presumably some kind of distinction preceded its bestowal.

I have a notion if this particular duke were made a KG himself he wouldn't put his insignia up for auction. He'd be more likely to hang it in his baronial entrance hall.

Even the chaps who keep medals in drawers, perhaps lying for years wrapped in their original envelopes, aren't greatly tempted to dispose of them. They may be a bit bashful about parading them in public but secretly they'll be proud of how they got them. And their children, maybe, won't be so backward; they'll exhibit the "old man's medals" as proof of their heritage.

It's a fact that some thousands of last war medals still repose in Ottawa cubbyholes, unclaimed. But the reason here is not hard to find. They don't bear the names of the men entitled to them, and the affront thus done to veterans of battle excuses the rejection. A medal to be the kind to show off is one that unmistakably belongs to its wearer. The gilt is rubbed off if it anyone can buy its counterpart.

Anyway, the last war medal recipients shouldn't have had to claim their awards. They should have been mailed to them unasked.

I'll grant you the display of medals tends nowadays to be overwhelming, particularly on some military chests. They have been handsomely bestowed, albeit the peace the world seeks if it gets it will take care of this point. The rising military generation won't have so many to show. In any case it will be a peaceful medal Old Lady Victoria will have to sport it and when she shows off her new, finely-planned civic centre. The Barrie touch indeed.

Report from Ottawa

The NDP's Initial Troubles

By ARTHUR BLAKELY

IN the old days, when Canadian socialists belonged to a political party known as the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, they weren't at all unhappy to hear it described as the CCF.

In fact, they were pleased to hear the initials used in preference to the name. Co-operative Commonwealth Federation is a mighty big mouthful. Its own members shied away from it so quickly and so completely that by the mid-forties, party leaders would admit on occasion that a surprisingly small percentage of CCF members knew, any longer, what the initials stood for. But as long as they voted the right way, this didn't really bother them much.

There was at least one disadvantage. Members of the CCF became known as CCFers—a term which many of them regarded with some distaste. One look at the only possible alternative, though, was usually enough to dissuade them from any attempt at a change. None could work up much enthusiasm for Co-operative Commonwealth Federationist.

Throughout the length and breadth of Canada, and for a period of many years, the words CCF and CCFer attained general currency.

One place where the party encountered resistance to the practice of substituting the party's initials for its proper name was on Parliament Hill itself. Mr. Stanley Knowles (Winnipeg North Centre), currently a New Democrat but formerly an ardent CCFer of many years' standing, was recalling just a few days ago that Hansard and other parliamentary publications tended to be sticky about the matter. They are sedate publications with a pronounced preference for proper names.

The party's name was the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation. The use of initials was frowned upon. "It didn't matter if we used the term CCF and described ourselves as CCFers or not," Mr. Knowles said. "In Hansard they would be spelled out."

On occasion, leading CCFers would address personal appeals to those in charge of the publications to use the name by which the party was known to the public. Sometimes, such appeals appeared, for a time at least, to have achieved some measure of success. But before long, Hansard would have returned to the practice of designating the party as the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

As time marched on, there was some improvement. But right to the end, the CCF was confronted with occasional references to the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

But this, of course, was in the old days.

When the CCF collaborated with the Canadian Labor Congress and other interested parties to found a new left-of-centre political party, if there was one detail which received consideration at great length and in minute detail, it was the matter of a name. The one thing that the CCFers wanted to avoid, at all costs, was the sort of trouble the old party had had.

And in the end, the party founders were sure that they had the problem licked. The party was named the New Democratic Party. If it wasn't short, neither was it very long. Better still, its members could expect to be known as the New Democrats. And what could be better than that? Especially after you've been a CCFer vulnerable to designation as a Co-operative Commonwealth Federationist?

Since the new Parliament met, however, the New Democrats have had occasion to remember Burns' lines about the best-laid plans of mice and men.

Where the old Co-operative Commonwealth Federation had trouble persuading people to use its initials, the New Democratic Party has been dismayed to find people using little else.

They were appalled to hear reference to their esteemed party as the NDP, and to themselves as—of all things—NDPers. Or, worse still, as NDPA. It's almost as bad as being called a CCFer and with-out the attendant advantages.

It is a pleasure to report, however, the New Democrats haven't taken this lying down.

Far from it. Once they recovered from the initial shock, they entered an indignant protest. And they have followed this with other protests, equally sharp, at appropriate intervals.

One of the more attractive examples was provided early in the session by Mr. Tom Barnett (NDP—Comox-Alberni).

"In view of the fact that several members in the course of their speeches yesterday referred to members in this corner as NDPA, I should like to suggest, if I may, that we are members of the New Democratic Party or New Democrats. We do not customarily refer to SCs or PCs. As a matter of parliamentary courtesy, I should like to request that we be referred to in the House as New Democrats or as members of the New Democratic Party."

Commented Mr. Speaker Marcel Lambert: "The effectiveness of the honorable member's representations will be measured by the efficacy of his eloquence."

The matter hasn't been cleared up yet. But a beginning has been made.

Long Way to Go

Mexico's Brave Start

By DAVID GREINER from Mexico City

THERE'S an old saying here that Canada and Mexico share a common problem: their mutual neighbor. This unflattering view of the U.S. reflects some of the nationalistic reaction in both countries to American economic influence.

In both countries, the U.S. has provided the bulk of foreign capital for investment purposes. In Mexico, as in Canada, roughly 70 per cent of all foreign trade is with the U.S.

But there the parallel ends. The two countries have taken different paths in dealing with the emotional and political problems involved in foreign control of industry and resources.

The Mexican way has been to keep control of resources—and some key industries—in Mexican hands. Government planning has backed this approach. In Canada, with notable exceptions, economic development has been left to a far greater extent to the free play of the market.

Here are some outlines of the Mexican pattern of development: Nationalization: There are some state-owned enterprises—the petroleum industry, for instance, as well as transportation and electric power. Also being reserved for government operation is the basic petrochemical industry.

Foreign capital: There's more than $1.2 billion of foreign capital invested in Mexico, about 80 per cent of it from the U.S.

Foreign investors are welcome—under certain conditions. In the field of communications, transportation, agriculture and fishing, mining and lumbering, control must rest in Mexican hands.

But it is not—repeat, not true that all businesses in Mexico must be Mexican controlled. And there are no restrictions on the movement of capital, either.

New industry: The government plays an active role in developing new industry. Cases in point at the moment are automobiles and typewriters—both of them items imported in quantity.

In the case of autos, the Mexican government has taken steps to reduce the number of makes being imported or assembled, using tax restrictions and import bans to narrow the field.

Now two companies are dickering to set up plants to make cars in Mexico, the contenders being Renault of France and Nissan of Japan.

The same objectives are being pursued in typewriters. The ultimate aim is to have 70 to 95 per cent Mexican content.

National development. The right arm of the government is Nacional Financiera, set up back in the 1930s.

Originally a real estate investment company, today it's a cross between a central bank and a national development fund—financing sectors of the economy that are short of capital and also controlling foreign investment in Mexico. Which is the better way—Canada's or Mexico's? There's no easy answer. The two economies aren't the same. History, too, has treated the two countries differently.

One can't help but be impressed by the way Mexico has used its resources to produce a balanced economy. Equally striking is the way Mexican sovereignty has been exercised to keep control of basic resources and industries.

But there's undoubtedly been a price attached. It's arguable that living standards have risen as quickly as they might have under conditions of greater economic freedom. There are dangers, too, in government planning. Mexico has made a brave beginning. But there's still a long way to go.

No Sympathy

By GREGORY CLARK

AT a friend's house, one of the small children came running to his daddy with a scratched hand. It was not a serious scratch, only a trace of blood showing. But the young fellow made a big thing of it, and expected and obtained the greatest sympathy and prompt attention of his dad, who went and got the pretty antiseptic and a small adhesive bandage and brought the incident to a suitably dramatic and satisfying conclusion.

"When I was that kid's age," said the daddy, when the small boy was out of earshot, "we were scared to report a scratch. You would have put iodine on it. The worse the scratch or cut, the more desperately did we attempt to conceal it from our elders. No running to them for sympathy. We got iodine; and they had to hold us down, or kneel on us, in order to apply the curative and burning antiseptic, with us howling bloody murder. It wasn't for the stinging alone that we howled. Involved in our emotions were the heartlessness and lack of sympathy of our parents, together with grief over our sin of being found out. The wisest and least painful thing to do, when I was a boy, was to keep your injuries to yourself."

Severe Penalties

Soviet Crime

By MARK FRANKLAND from Moscow

A WESTERN correspondent, recently arrived in Moscow, remarked after reading about a trial, in which several Soviet citizens were condemned to death for speculation, "I never expected things to be as perfect here as Soviet propaganda makes out, but I wasn't prepared for this sort of thing."

In fact, many groups have been condemned over the past 18 months to long prison sentences for speculation or embezzlement of state property. Like the Western correspondent, many people may have imagined that crime should not exist here as it does in the West, although they are ready to believe many other unfavorable, and even untrue, things about life in the Soviet Union.

No doubt Soviet propaganda is partly the cause. Partly, too, there are no complete published surveys of criminal statistics for the whole of the Soviet Union and, indeed, until recently there were probably even no academic criminologists in the Western sense. But speculation in gold and foreign currency are, after all, the obvious economic crimes in a country of strict currency regulations and state ownership of all industry and commerce. It is to these crimes which the intelligent, well-placed Soviet citizen may turn in a moment of weakness or from plain lack of scruple just as in the West people defraud companies and commit other financial crimes. That the Soviet authorities have brought in the death penalty for both speculation and embezzlement of state property indicates that they are not rare occurrences.

The Soviet authorities are apt to say that such people are "survivals from the past" and that there is no inherent reason for these (and other) crimes in Soviet society as there is in the capitalist West.

This, of course, is a "simplist" explanation which intelligent Soviet people are unlikely to defend in private. As Soviet criminology develops, the explanation of crime will certainly become more sophisticated—although not to the extent of saying that the roots of crime are the same in all countries, Communist, capitalist or socialist.

Indeed a book by a Soviet criminologist on the causes of crime in the Soviet Union (published last year) shows that for certain crimes at least there is considerable similarity between Russian and other European countries.

The author produces figures to suggest that broken homes are breeding grounds for young criminals. He links a low educational and cultural level with such crimes as theft, hooliganism and violence. A survey he carried out showed that two-thirds of young offenders sentenced for theft, rape, murder and hooliganism acted in gangs. A more specifically Soviet phenomenon is the high correlation between drunkenness and crime.

There is another aspect of crime here which has seriously worried some observers abroad—the high incidence of Jews (or at least people with Jewish-sounding names) among those recently convicted of crimes involving speculation and embezzlement of state property. There have been suggestions of an officially-directed campaign against the Jews.

This does not seem to be an accurate estimate of the facts. It is true that in the past 18 months about half of those executed for such offences have been Jews. But it is also true that the Soviet courts have been equally severe with similar Russian, Georgian and Kazakh offenders. It is pointed out here that Soviet Jews, with their traditional interest in finance and commerce, are particularly liable to be involved in such crimes.

However, few observers here would deny that there is in many parts of the Soviet Union—in the Ukraine and the Caucasus, for example—a hostility towards Jewish people which might be provoked by the publicity given to some of the more dramatic court cases. Some of this hostility might affect the actions of some local officials. But this is a long way from an official campaign.

The Soviet authorities have reasons for not particularly liking either practising Jews, since Soviet ideology is against all religion, or Jews in general insofar as they are apt to have a sense of internationalism not shared by ordinary Soviet citizens. But Soviet authorities have recently issued figures of the participation of Jews in Soviet life to counter charges of unfavorable treatment: 15.7 per cent of Soviet doctors, 8.5 per cent of writers and journalists, 10.4 per cent of jurists are Jews—according to the Soviet embassy in Washington.

Peace Money Always There Says Premier

Back from a successful foray into the New York money market, Premier Bennett said yesterday people have asked him how B.C. can be debt free while he is "off borrowing money."

He pointed out that he has not been borrowing money for the government, but for Crown agencies which are capable of repaying it themselves.

VERY PROFITABLE

"The Crown corporations' operations are very profitable," he stated.

They will have a combined net profit in excess of $20,000,000 this year, he assured reporters.

By contrast, such federal Crown corporations as the CBC and Trans-Canada Air Lines "lost millions."

The premier said British Columbia's government is the only one in the world with a genuine party bond to offer to its own residents and will be the only government in Canada this year to produce a surplus.

SET UP SYNDICATE

While in New York he took delivery of $25,000,000 borrowed on behalf of the B.C. Toll Authority and set up a seven-company syndicate to finance the $600,000,000 Peace River hydro project.

He said there had been criticism aimed at B.C. for its New York dealings on two counts. That it was not dealing with top financial firms and that it was about to surrender a measure of Peace River project management to the lenders.

DEAL WITH TOP

"We deal with the very tops," he said.

"I think we set up the best syndicate ever set up in North America."

Heading the group, he went on, is the First Boston Corporation, whose president, George Woods, is slated to become the next president of the World Bank.

The premier said Mr. Woods staged a dinner on his behalf.

"I not only tried to do a selling job for B.C. but for Canada as well," he recalled.

"I told them Canada is the wealthiest nation, per capita, potentially, in the world."

"And that British Columbia is the choice part of Canada," he added with a laugh.

There will be no trouble securing long-term money for the Peace "whenever we need it."

He denied that B.C. would yield any management rights in securing the funds.

LETTERS to the Editor

To be considered for publication in whole or in part letters must be on subjects of general interest, not more than 200 words in length, and, if signed with a pen-name, must be accompanied by the writer's name and address.

The commercial vulgarization of Christmas is world-wide and deplored as much by sensible Americans as it is by less enterprising people, and the fact that two housewives in Victoria have said their piece and had a terrific public reaction in their support may have consequences which could be far reaching.

Can anyone deny that, for nearly everybody, Christmas is now a festival of stress and strain—of guilping and guzzling—of a tough struggle to keep up with the Joneses in the frantic exchange of cards and presents.

At one time Christmas was for children—adults took pleasure in their joy. (Mrs.) R. ROSS, 1238 Richardson Street.

13th Man Safe As Ship Sinks

TOKYO (AP)—A 40-ton Japanese fishing boat with 13 crew members sank after running aground off the coast of northern Japan Saturday. One crew member was killed and 11 are missing. The 13th man swam three-quarters of a mile to shore.

Warmth in Dull Days

There is nothing wrong with our public-spirited Victoria merchants who at vast effort and expense try to infuse the spirit of Christmas, and bring the beauty and warmth of the festive season in decoration, lights and carol music to our lovely city during what normally would be the gloomy dull days of November and December. There are always the cold, dark and empty days to follow in both January and February, when we long for a breath of spring.

The great tragedy is those mothers who cannot restrain themselves or resist the impulse to charge down town, to charge this, and charge that, and use up six months' credit by the end of November, to meet the obligations of Christmas.

A. L. STEVENSON, 2765 Belmont Avenue.

All in Accord

With reference to the early start of Christmas, my name and others, appeared in Friday's paper by some error, but by no means through any fault of Mrs. MacMinn or Mrs. Collins. However, I congratulate these two women for having the courage to bring this situation forth and letting the public express their opinions. I received several phone calls and all were in accord with Mrs. MacMinn and Mrs. Collins. God bless them.

(Mrs.) A. POLITANO, 3352 Gibbs Road.

Observation Ordered For Accused

Arrested by city police after two persons were injured in a Government Street store Saturday afternoon, Michael J. McGuire, 22, of 1711 DuChesne, will undergo observation by a psychiatrist before he answers two charges of assault.

McGuire appeared in city police court yesterday morning, charged with assaulting 70-year-old Lum Wah, 2527 Blanshard, and 13-year-old Dwayne Laughren, 2715 Scarie.

CASE REMANDED
On the application of lawyer Rodney Taylor, representing McGuire, the case was remanded for a week without McGuire pleading to the charges. Bail of $300 was allowed.

Mr. Taylor indicated to the court that McGuire would be examined by Dr. Douglas Alcorn before his next appearance in court.

The incident happened about 2:15 p.m. Saturday at Vaters' Store, 2602 Government. Lum Wah is reported in good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital with lacerations over the left eye and possible rib injuries.

What are THE FACTS BEHIND THE FIGURES

at "MY BANK"
TO 3 MILLION CANADIANS
B of M

Here is a concise summary in layman's language of how the B of M stood at the year-end on October 31st, 1962

WHAT WE HAVE:

CASH: The B of M has cash in its vaults and money on deposit with the Bank of Canada and other banks amounting to	$ 520,065,342
CHEQUES and other items in transit—representing the net amount of the moneys moving between branches of the Bank and into the B of M from other banks on account of customers' transactions	112,094,335
INVESTMENTS: The B of M maintains a strong liquid position through investments in high-grade government bonds which have a ready market. Listed on the Bank's books at amortized value, they amount to	742,197,080
The B of M has other investments—including a diversified list of high-quality short-term issues. These investments are carried at	226,832,563
CALL LOANS: The B of M has call loans which are fully protected by quickly saleable securities. These loans amount to	218,548,259
QUICKLY AVAILABLE RESOURCES: The resources listed above cover 47.8% of all that the Bank owes to the public. These "quick assets" amount to	$1,819,737,579
LOANS: During the year, many millions of dollars have been lent to business and industrial enterprises for production of every kind—to farmers, fishermen, oilmen, miners, lumbermen and ranchers—to citizens in all walks of life, and to community organizations and provincial and municipal governments. These loans amount to	$1,825,682,590
MORTGAGES and hypothecations insured under the National Housing Act, 1954—representing advances to homebuilders	224,644,086
BANK BUILDINGS: In bachelors, villages, towns and large cities from coast to coast the B of M serves its customers at 900 offices. The value of the buildings owned by the Bank, together with furniture and equipment, is shown on its books at	65,878,133
OTHER ASSETS: These chiefly represent liabilities of customers for commitments made by the Bank on their behalf, covering foreign and domestic trade transactions	79,222,188
TOTAL RESOURCES WHICH THE B of M HAS TO MEET ITS OBLIGATIONS	$4,015,164,576

WHAT WE OWE:

DEPOSITS: While many business firms, manufacturers, merchants, farmers and people in every type of business have substantial deposits with the B of M, about half of the money on deposit with the Bank is the savings of private citizens. The total of all deposits is	$3,712,565,329
OTHER LIABILITIES: Miscellaneous items, representing mainly commitments undertaken by the Bank on behalf of customers in their foreign and domestic trade transactions	90,467,909
TOTAL OF WHAT THE B of M OWES ITS DEPOSITORS AND OTHERS	$3,803,032,638
TO PAY ALL IT OWES, THE B of M HAS TOTAL RESOURCES, AS SHOWN ON THE LEFT SIDE OF THIS STATEMENT, AMOUNTING TO	$4,015,164,576
WHICH MEANS THAT THE B of M HAS RESOURCES, OVER AND ABOVE WHAT IT OWES, AMOUNTING TO	$ 212,131,938

This figure of $212,131,938 is made up of money subscribed by the shareholders and, to some extent, of earnings which have from time to time been ploughed back into the business to broaden the Bank's services and to give added protection for the depositors.

Both Cars Turned Girl Tells Hearing

A 22-year-old girl told a preliminary hearing in Esquimalt court yesterday that one of two cars involved in a fatal accident on Esquimalt Road Sept. 15 was travelling on the wrong side of the road.

"I saw the two-toned car going to town and then I saw the green car. It was on the wrong side of the road and it was coming pretty fast," Cete Kuor, 708 Suffolk, said in evidence.

TURNED TO AVOID CRASH
"Both cars turned to miss each other but they didn't," identified by another witness as driver of the green car was RCMP Marine Const. Malcolm Joseph La Freniere charged with dangerous driving.

FATAL ACCIDENT
The charge arose out of an accident on Esquimalt Road near Macaulay Street, which took the life of Mrs. Doris Bendall, 512 Fraser, mother of five children.

La Freniere elected trial by judge and jury. Magistrate William Oulter is conducting a preliminary hearing.

Miss Kuor said the accident happened about 200 yards from where she was standing.

Under cross-examination by Brian Roberts, representing La Freniere, she said the green car swerved to its right and the other car swerved to its left just before the collision.

"Both of the cars tried to miss each other and when they couldn't miss each other, that is when I heard the wheels make a noise."

During cross-examination Miss Kuor pleaded illness and was excused temporarily.

The hearing was adjourned to Wednesday morning.

'Good Stories'
Phil Gaglardi Best In Canada—Bennett

British Columbia has the best highways minister in Canada, Premier Bennett said yesterday.

He said newspaper stories linking the ebullient Mr. Gag-lardi with a 340-horsepower hot-rod on which prices were sought by the highways department were amusing.

"They are good stories," he said.

"Of all the ministers of highways in Canada I've got the best. Phil is the best there is."

He said B.C. would not be buying the car and that Mr. Gaglardi never intended to in the first place.

Government Asks Funds For Bills
OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament is being asked to vote another month's "pocket money" advance to the government — an amount in excess of $200,000,000.

It is just to tide the government over, so it can meet its day-to-day bills, until Parliament gets around to approving the revised 1962-63 spending program in detail.

So far, Parliament hasn't voted a penny in the specific formal appropriations for the fiscal year which started last April.

Plaza Scheme
Plans for Victoria Convention Topic

Victoria is becoming recognized through its Centennial Square civic plaza scheme as an authority on town centre planning in B.C.

TO OUTLINE PROPOSALS
City planner Roderick Clark will provide details of the scheme Friday morning to delegates attending the Vancouver conference of the B.C. division, Community Planning Association of Canada.

The local project will be discussed by a panel of experts dealing with the subject: "What's New in Town Centre Planning?"

TWO-DAY PROGRAM
Also taking part in the two-day program which begins Thursday: Capital Region Planning Board director A. H. Roberts; Saanich planner Anthony Parr; J. E. Brown, deputy minister of municipal affairs; provincial regional planning director Ronald South.

Guest speakers at Thursday and Friday luncheons are provincial architect Willard Ir-land and retired eye specialist Sir Philip Livingston.

Federal Aid Last Resort In Sect Deal
OTTAWA (UPI) — The federal government can intervene in the House of Freedom Donkey problem in B.C. only if it is beyond the financial resources of the province, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Monday.

He made the statement in the Commons when asked by H. W. Merridge (NDP—Rosedale West), if the government would offer assistance toward a permanent, long-term solution.

Province Reduces Loan Rate
"B.C. will offer more leadership" to Canada's chartered banks Dec. 1 when it makes a further cut on interest rates on $30,000,000 worth of government loans to crown agencies, Premier Bennett announced yesterday.

When he cut the rate from 6 per cent to 5 1/2 on Oct. 31, he said B.C. was setting an example to the banks to do likewise. Now it will be cut to a flat 5 per cent.

Yesterday he said he was gratified to see banks had dropped their rate to 5 1/2 per cent, but added, "It is still too high."

Many Changes Urged

Key Findings of Glassco Inquiry

OTTAWA (CP) — Key recommendations of the second report of the Glassco royal commission on government organization:

New role for the public works department as central agency in charge of federal property and buildings and civilian construction.

Creation of new department of purchasing and supply out of the defence production department.

Vigorous programs to dispose of surplus land and materials.

Simplified regulations for handling travel claims and moving expense accounts.

Withdrawal of health and revenue departments from marine operations.

Centralization of patrol cutter operations; coast guard taking over RCMP and fisheries department patrol work.

Progressive consolidation of all large marine vessels under transport department control.

Integration of RCMP and transport department maintenance and storage facilities in Ottawa.

Co-ordination of telecommunications systems.

Rename the Queen's Printer the Queen's Publisher and remove government printing bureau from his department.

Greater use of private industry for government printing work.

Thorough consideration of private industry suppliers before any expansion or replacement of government production facilities.

Less reliance on government staff for maintenance work; more contracting out.

Review of CBC expansion plans in film-making to ensure no reduction in opportunity for private film industry.

More Say In Parks

OTTAWA (CP) — Removal of national parks from direct government control through establishment of a national parks commission is urged in the second Glassco report.

It would make the parks self-sufficient, give residents of parks more say in operation of their lands and strengthen the authority of park chiefs. The new commission should contain people outside the government.

Landlord Job Rapped

ommends a new role for the public works department as the government's landlord and builder. It would manage all civilian federal property and direct civilian construction.

One big job would be to keep an inventory of government property and dispose of surplus land, which could be a good source of federal revenue.

Urging a new department of purchasing and supply, the commission says:

"The purchasing function in the civil departments and agencies is so dispersed and fragmented it is too often left to individuals with inadequate knowledge and skills."

The report has some harsh words for the government's system of inviting bids on supplies, contending it too often is it cost $1,000,000 a year in mal-overdone. As an example, cararia for the time spent by firms were asked to bid on each review.

order for one horn button, four The commission was critical windshield wipers and three of vehicle maintenance work, carburetor parts. The paper-urging most be shifted to get-work cost more than the retail vate firms.

Review work done on travel finds strongly in favor of per-expense statements was "de-tailed to the point of absurd-ity." In the defence department infor do not reflect true costs.

The "make or buy" section finds strongly in favor of per-chases from private industry. It stresses government prices often do not reflect true costs.

Transport Bill Criticized

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government's transportation bill, nearly $200,000,000 a year, has undergone some critical auditing by the Glassco royal commission on government organization.

In its second report, the commission says the government has gone overboard on some aspects of its job in moving employees and materials around the country and the world.

It takes a particularly hard look at the RCAF's Air Transport Command.

SHARP GROWTH
The report charts the sharp growth of this air fleet, noting that its carrying capacity now may rival that of Trans-Canada Air Lines and that it flies more overseas miles than TCA.

"This large and growing volume of traffic and the high incidence of scheduled flying by the Air Transport Command probably are disturbing to commercial carriers."

In another proposal, the commission says patrol boat operations by the RCMP, the fisheries department and the new coast guard are a duplication "which cannot be justified on any grounds." The coast guard alone should supply the service.

1,000 Years Of Warmth

OTTAWA (CP) — A Glassco report check of defence storage showed:

The navy has enough wool and cotton union suits of one size to last 1,000 years. The army has 197 years' supply of plain black cotton overalls, size 1.

The RCAF has 270 years' requirements of lamp bulbs.

"To be fair, in some cases remaining stocks of Second World War materials and equipment are the cause," it says.

PLYMOUTH, England — A Bristol University student, Roger Wouler, 19, says he has broken the egg-swallowing record. He swallowed 45 raw eggs in under six minutes "because I'm that sort of a fool."

Crash Victims

Both Named

COURTENAY—Police yesterday identified the two young people who died when their car and a truck were involved in a crash 16 miles north of here.

Dead are Raymond Redmond, 19, and Fern Bell, 17, both of Campbell River. They were passengers in a car driven by Eddie Russell, 18, who is in Campbell River hospital with internal injuries.

THREE HURT

Three were injured in the violent collision. The car collided head-on at about 10:30 p.m. south of Oyster River bridge with a panel truck driven by John Cameron, about 40, of Victoria, who received serious head injuries.

Passenger in the truck was Alfred Coderre, of Victoria, about 40, who was released after treatment in Campbell River hospital.

BAD CORNER

The crash occurred in an S-bend known to older residents as Flag Diner corner where three people died in an accident several years ago and six teenagers in a car rammed a power pole and were badly injured.

In a 1956 accident at the same spot, a man was blinded.

Air Training

An advanced training program for light aircraft pilots to prevent plane accidents such as the one which claimed three lives in Surrey Nov. 19 is under study by the Vancouver Aero Club of B.C., a spokesman said yesterday.

The course would train pilots to rely completely on instruments when fog or clouds move in.

Victims of the Nov. 19 crash were Roberta Brittain, 3, daughter of Mrs. Donald Brittain, 1343 Esquimalt Road, and Mrs. Elizabeth Dick, 41, formerly of Victoria, and pilot John Bentley Minor, 36.

'Hot' Watch

Sales Halt

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City yesterday banned the sale of radium-dial pocket watches in the city as of next Feb. 1 on the ground they expose those who carry them to excessive radiation.

Hunter

Dies

Here

John Lindsay (Lin) Newbigging, veteran hunter, sports fisherman and woodsman, died suddenly Saturday at Shawinigan Lake. Funeral will be in Sands' chapel here at 3 p.m. today.

Mr. Newbigging, whose grandfather came to Victoria aboard a pioneer ship in 1853, worked in the watershed for the Greater Victoria Water Board for about 30 years. He would have been 77 Thursday.

Manhunt

Ended

GOLDEN (CP)—Two young men who sparked a manhunt in B.C. last week pleaded guilty in police court Monday to 12 charges of breaking and entering. Glendon Milbury, 22, and Jack Steinburg, 18, got six months and one year, respectively.

Yankees Trade for Pitcher In Busy Baseball Sessions

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—New York Yankees appeared to have come up with the pitcher they were seeking in a deal with Los Angeles Dodgers which highlighted a busy day at the annual draft meeting of the major baseball leagues.

In the first trade they have made in the inter-league trading session which was started two seasons back, the Yankees acquired Stan Williams, 26-year-old right-hander who is expected to be a major league ballplayer, from the Dodgers.

In return, the Yankees gave up Bill "Moose" Skowron, their regular first-baseman for the past eight seasons. It left the Yankees with rookie Joe Pepitone and veteran Dale Long as first-basemen and gave the Dodgers a player who had been a major league champion.

Skowron, a streak hitter with power, had a .270 batting average this season and hit 23 home runs. Williams, big and with one of the best fast balls in the major leagues, had a 14-12 record last season.

TRADE CHAMP

In another trade of "name" players, Boston Red Sox sent veteran Pete Runnels, American League batting champion, to Houston Colts of the National League in return for outfielder Roman Mejias.

Runnels, who can play several infield positions, became expendable as far as the Red Sox were concerned when they obtained Dick Stuart from Pittsburgh Pirates last week to play first base.

Runnels had a .326 batting average this season, while the 31-year-old Mejias, who got another major league chance when the National League expanded to 10 teams, batted .286, drove in 76 runs and hit 24 home runs for the Colts.

Runnels is expected to play second-base for the Colts. TAKI ROOKIE. Washington Senators of the American League sent first-baseman Harry Bright, who batted .273 with 17 home runs last season, to Cincinnati Reds in return for Rogelio Alvarez, a first-baseman who batted .318 and hit 18 home runs for San Diego of the Coast League this year.

Kansas City Athletics, apparently completing the mid-season deal which saw Los Angeles Angels obtain re-helicopter Dan Osinski, made a conditional purchase of Pennington southpaw Ted Bowsfield. If kept, Bowsfield will be the replacement for Bo Belinsky, who has been originally ticketed for the Athletics. The deal was blocked by commissioner Ford Frick on the grounds that clubs cannot designate players until after the season ends once the trading deadline is passed.

TWO FOR TIGERS

Detroit Tigers sent Ron Nischwitz, southpaw relief pitcher, and right-hander Gordon Stryker, who played for Denver this year, to Cleveland Indians to get thirdbaseback Earl Day, fullback Earl Lunsford and guard Tony Pajackowski, and tackle Don Luzzi, linebacker Wayne Harris and safetyman Harvey Wylie.

Six of Luckless Stampeder's Make Canadian All-Star Club

WINNIPEG (UPI)—Calgary Stampeder's heart-breaking final-second Western Conference loss to the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, drew some consolation in placing six players on the first annual Football Reporter's Canada all-Canadian football team.

DAY MAKES IT

Stampeder's who came within one second of winning a trip to the Grey Cup game, all nine Canadian Football League teams in the United Press International poll by placing three men on the offensive team and three on the defensive squad—quarterback Earl Day, fullback Earl Lunsford and guard Tony Pajackowski, and tackle Don Luzzi, linebacker Wayne Harris and safetyman Harvey Wylie.

Blue Bombers, who fell on Wylie's flubbed end zone soccer-kick for the winning touchdown, and Hamilton Tiger-Cats, eastern winners for the fifth time in six years, each placed four players on the draft list.

ROWLAND PICKED

Halfback Leo Lewis, tackle Frank Rigney on offense and end Herb Gray and corner linebacker Gordie Rowland were the Winnipeg stars. Tiger-Cats were represented by end Hal Patterson, tackle Bronco Nagurski, John Barrow and defensive back Don Sutherland.

Saskatchewan Roughriders placed three—Centre Neil Hagg, halfback Ray Purdin and defensive end Garner Ekstrand; Ottawa had corner-lineman Jim Conroy and middle-guard Kaye Vaughan; Toronto had defensive halfback Jim Rountree and guard Gerry Patrick.

Edmonton, British Columbia and Montreal each placed only one man on the 24-member team.

MISSUS BY ONE

Alouettes' lone representative, flashy George Dixon, however, was the top point-getter among the 5000 sports writers and sportscasters who voted in the FRC poll. The eastern scoring and rushing champion was named on all but one ballot and, ironically, the lone dissenter was an eastern voter.

Tom Brown, British Columbia's fine line-backer, was the lone Lions' nominee, while Tommy Joe Coffey, the western scoring champion and all-conference end, was Edmonton's delegate.

BIG REASON

Dixon, who set an eastern rushing record of 1300 yards and scored 15 touchdowns, needs only one more prize to complete a rare grand slam in Canadian football. The slender speedster from Bridgeport, Conn., already was named the most popular Alouette (Lord Calvert Trophy), the most valuable player in the Eastern Conference (Jeff Russell Trophy) and was a unanimous choice on the UPI team picked by coaches.

On Wednesday the 195-pound Green Bay castoff is almost certain to be named winner of the $2,000 Schenley Trophy as the outstanding player in the country.

The FRC all-Canada team showed some slight changes from the UPI coaches' team. The nine CFL coaches liked Ottawa's Mo' Racine over Nagurski on offensive tackle; Hamilton's Ellison Kelly over Patrick at one guard spot and

B.C.'s Nub Bremer over Lunsford at fullback.

On the defensive team, the coaches preferred B.C.'s Dick Fouts to Ekstrand; Hamilton's Zeno Karas over Rowland at one of the corners; and Winnipeg's Dave Burkholder as Harris' partner at inside line-backer instead of Brown.

Halberg won in 13:34.2. Clark was timed in 13:36.2, and Kidd blundered feet and all — in 13:38.4.

Olympic champion Peter Snell won the 800 in 1:47.6, a new Games record.

Tom Dinsley of Vancouver placed second in the men's springboard diving, and Jack Kelso of Ocean Falls, placed third in the men's 440 individual medley, finishing it in such a state of exhaustion that he had to be hospitalized briefly.

University of British Columbia fours, only Canadian survivor in the rowing finals, placed third in the coxless fours behind England and Wales in the highlight for Canada in early Tuesday events.

England was timed in 6:31.1 for a Games record, followed by Wales in 6:32.5 and UBC in 6:34.9.

Australia defeated New Zealand by two feet to win the eight-oared event, also in games record time of 5:55.4. Previous record of 5:55.1 was held by UBC, which lost out to Australia in the repechage this year.

England picked up a pair of gold medals in the double sculls and coxless pairs, also in record times, with New Zealand second and Australia third in each.

Lynn Eves of Victoria placed sixth in semi-final of the 220 dash with time of 21.7 seconds and was eliminated.

Harvey Best of Pendock, Sask., lost unanimous decision to Northern Ireland's Bernard Mell in light-weightweight division of the boxing tournament.

Archie Hoar and Ross Moir of Vancouver were tied for third after three rounds of men's lawn bowling pairs. Canada finished 10th in 11-country fours competition.

Sterling Shields of Edmonton won in a five-way tie for first place in the singles after two rounds.

Susan Knight of Australia won the women's high diving gold medal, and fellow-Aussie, Ken Roche took the 400 hurdles championship.

Warwick Selvey of Australia hurled the discus 185 feet 3/4 inches for a Games record to win the gold medal in the event. Old record was 183 feet 6 1/2 inches.

Bill Crothers of Toronto placed second in his 440 heat to qualify for Thursday's semi-final, but Yvonne Breeden of Vancouver was eliminated from the women's 220 when she finished sixth.

Games record of 720 pounds won a gold medal for England's G. Newton in the featherweight weight-lifting event.

Sunday's race: Victoria 4 at New Westminster 7.
 Next game: tonight—Nanaimo at Esquimalt, 8 p.m. Esquimalt Sports Centre.

Nanaimo Hopes High

Paddy Driscoll scored twice for Royals Sunday, the other goals going to Byron McBeth, John Shmyre, Ivan Susheski, Bob McLean and Frank Ketter. Gary Elmore, Paul Bion, Vern Lambourne and Lionel Dubau scored for Cougars.

Nanaimo is still convinced it can make a race of things in the Pacific Coast Junior "A" Hockey League, and tonight's game against the Bruins at Esquimalt Sports Centre looms large in its plans.

Nanaimo is five points behind New Westminster Royals, who beat Victoria Cougars, 7-4, on the mainland Sunday. But Nanaimo holds one game in hand, and can cut the lead to three with a win tonight. Game time is 8 p.m.

£ FOR £ YOU CAN'T BEAT ANGLIA!

£ for £ or $ for $ Anglia speaks a language all its own. In its British homeland, where more little cars are sold than anywhere else in the world, Anglia outsells every other car, regardless of size or make! Reasons? British craftsmanship is the main one. British engineers and designers developed Anglia to be the best car in its class. They did it so well Anglia is in a class by itself. Proof? Style for one car needn't be homely. Performance is another. In gruelling road rallies held around the world Anglia has developed a habit. It consistently scampers home with the winners (to the vast annoyance of bigger, more powerful cars, we might add!) And of course there's economy. If you had to pay the equivalent of 63¢ a gallon you'd soon pick a car that delivered top mileage per gallon. Britons have picked that car. Test drive Anglia and you'll find out why! Lila, left, and Marian Boudewyn sadly survey damage done to their home at 867 Humbolt early Sunday evening when stolen car smashed through wall. Car crashed into house after striking pedestrian, sending her to hospital with broken arm.—(Robin Clarke)

Car Halved, Driver Hurt In Collision

Force of a two-car collision early yesterday ripped one of the cars into two pieces.

Driver of the wrecked car, John William Ball, 33, of 1740 Coronation, was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital and admitted with head injuries.

IMPROVED

His condition was only "fair" yesterday morning but had improved to "satisfactory" by evening.

The accident happened about 12:45 a.m. at the intersection of Richmond and Coronation, near the Nurses' residence at Royal Jubilee Hospital. The Ball car was torn in half just behind the driver's seat.

FIRST AID

Margaret Wilson, a student nurse in residence at the hospital, ran across to give first aid to Ball at the scene of the accident.

Police said yesterday Mr. Ball was driving north on Richmond, turning west onto Coronation. They said the other car, driven by David Chesworth, 3121 Yew, was driving south on Richmond.

Chesworth was not injured in the collision.

STOLEN CAR

A car stolen from the Royal Jubilee Hospital parking lot figured in a spectacular accident about 5:55 p.m. Sunday which sent a 44-year-old woman to hospital and smashed through the side of a house.

Helen Sieradzian, 1236 Bay, was struck by the car at the intersection of Rupert and Humboldt as she crossed Rupert with Edith Hibberd, 613 Avilion.

RAMMED HOUSE

After the collision with Mrs. Sieradzian, the stolen car continued across Humboldt and rammed the side of a house owned by Steve Boudewyn, 867 Humboldt.

Driver of the stolen vehicle fled the scene and is being sought by police.

Mrs. Sieradzian was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital where she was admitted with a broken right arm. Her condition last night was "good."

LEFT SCENE

Mrs. Frances Majorki, 3114 Alder Street, reported to city police that at about 8:45 p.m. Sunday her car was in collision with a boy on a bicycle at Quadra and Hillside. The boy, apparently uninjured, left the scene without giving his name.

Huge Victory For DeGaulle

PARIS (AP) — The long shadow of Charles de Gaulle stretched even farther across the French political landscape today in the flow of the president's resounding victory in national parliamentary elections.

In run-off contests Sunday de Gaulle's own party and others pledged to his support captured a clear majority in the National Assembly—the first time in modern French history that any cohesive force could claim such a margin.

OFFICIAL

Official results, combining first-round returns Nov. 18 and Sunday's second round, gave de Gaulle's Union for a New Republic 233 of the 482 seats in the new National Assembly. And some 30 successful candidates from other parties were pledged to support de Gaulle.

Thus the president had combined support of more than 280 deputies, well above the 242 needed for control. In 1958 the UNR elected only 185 deputies although de Gaulle's popularity and the pressure of the Algerian war kept a majority of the assembly obedient to him.

With returns from six overseas districts still unreported, the other party standings were: (1958 results in parentheses) Independent-Republicans and Peasants 50 seats (120), Popular Republican Movement (MRP) 38 (44), Radical-Socialists and allies 43 (36), Socialists 67 (40), Communists 41 (10), other four.

Search Ended

HOPE (CP) — The six-day search for missing hunter Wallace John Marr of Calgary has been abandoned.

RCMP said they believe Marr, 30, who disappeared in rugged bushland, likely fell over one of the many cliffs in the area.

NDP Blamed For Strife In Labor

Premier Bennett said yesterday the policy of the NDP in B.C. is to foment labor strife.

He told reporters at a press conference: "The NDP leader (Robert Strachan) said a little while ago there would be trouble—now there is trouble."

The premier aligned himself solidly behind Attorney-General Bonner, who said in Vancouver last week that present labor strife in the province stems from "pork-chopping agitators."

"The attorney-general was right when he said it and Mr. Perreault (B.C. Liberal leader) was right when he said it—for once," he said.

City Entertainers Boost Toy Drive

Victoria entertainers will combine in an effort to finance the Victoria Cosmopolitan International Club's annual Christmas toy drive by staging a Parade of Stars to be held at the Royal Theatre at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Getting the audience into rhythm will be HMCS Naden dance band in its maiden public debut under Commissioned Officer T. Milner.

Instrumental music will come from Fred Usher and his Hornetdowners.

Vocal soloists are Peggy Walton Packard, Mimi Robertson, Anne Harris, Rhonda Williams, John Bray and Robert Maroon, while Carl and Lotti Henson will perform magic on stage.

Walker Cownden will be emcee and Al Smith the accompanied.

All performers will donate their efforts free.

Tickets—50 cents for children and $1 for adults—are on sale at Eaton's.

With the proceeds of this show, the Cosmopolitan Club hopes to give its Toys for Tots campaign a healthy boost.

Garden Notes

Joys of Rearing

By M. V. CHESNUT, FERN

I imagine there are very few homes in our part of the world today without a houseplant of some kind growing happily in a sunny window. Plants are so easy to come by now—days, for in addition to the florist shops and greenhouses, almost every supermarket has a stand of houseplants for sale, ranging all the way from a baby cactus for 39 cents to exotic tropical rubber plants costing $5 or more.

Buying a houseplant, though, is a bit like adopting a child—you can have more fun raising your own. A purchased plant will give you an immediate decorative effect in your home. It is true, and I wouldn't want to discourage you from bringing home a plant along with the week's groceries, but along with your "adopted" children, I think you would get a very special kick out of fussing over tiny plants which you have raised from birth.

Some houseplant seeds are a bit too difficult for the home gardener. African violet seeds, for instance, are so very small and so hard to raise without special equipment that it is more practicable to scrounge a leaf from a green-tinted neighbor and grow your plant from it. There are some seeds of ordinary outdoor plants, however, which will sprout and grow as easily as radishes and which will make unusual and most attractive houseplants.

One of my regular readers wrote to me recently enclosing a bit of plant which had blossomed its head off for six solid months with brilliant scarlet flowers something like those of the Shrimp Plant. A relative had given her a rooted slip, and now, with all her neighbors begging for slips of this long-blooming plant, she wanted to know its name. The thing didn't ring a bell with me until I realized suddenly that I wasn't looking at a houseplant at all but a common Salvia, a plant sold by the thousands every spring for massing in beds and planters outdoors.

I had never thought of Salvia as an indoor plant, but when you come to think of it, the plant has considerable charm when grown by itself in a pot instead of being viewed in the mass in outdoor beds, and of course, one reason for the popularity of Salvia as a bedding plant is its exceptionally long season of bloom. Seeds are available from any seedsmen for 15 cents per packet, and there isn't any trick at all in growing them. Simply sow thinly and shallowly in sandy loam soil and transplant the baby plants to individual pots as soon as they are big enough to handle. They like a sunny window in a coolish room.

Another easy outdoor subject which makes a dramatically beautiful houseplant is the morning glory "Heavenly Blue." Soak the very hard seeds overnight, sow one to the pot in rich but well-drained potting soil and keep in a warm place until the seedlings come through. Grow in the sunniest window in the house—it is impossible to give these tropical plants too much sun.

Mind you, if a morning glory was allowed to grow naturally, you'd have to chop a hole in the ceiling to accommodate it, for I've seen these vines make 25 feet of growth outdoors. The trick in maintaining Heavenly Blue at houseplant size lies in frustrating every effort the plant makes to become a vine.

Pinch out the growing tip when it is about 10 inches tall, then nip the tip off every side shoot after it has made two leaves. Eventually, under this restraint, your plant will forget it is supposed to be a climber and will settle down into a shrub-like habit of growth.

Each of the huge sky-blue trumpet flowers lasts only a single day, but a mature plant will produce a constant succession of blooms. I have seen one with six flowers open at the one time—a breathtaking sight indeed!

HEMINGWAY ... dismissed—with a host of others—as phony

Let's Talk

—By RUDOLF FLESCH

Iconoclast Ridicules U.S. Culture

I sat up late last night with a wonderful, glorious, mind-liberating, exhilarating book—"Against the American Grain" by Dwight Macdonald (Random House).

Mr. Macdonald has taken a lifelong look at what goes by the name of culture in the United States and has found it pretentious, snobbish, shabby, overpriced and artificial. In this book he says so out loud and takes pains to buttress each of his arguments by citing chapter and verse.

Sum Total of Culture

No, what he's dealing with is the sum total of our cultural establishment, the stuff that wins Pulitzer prizes; the people who get on the cover of Time; the architecture that stands on Park Avenue; the contents of Harper's, the Atlantic and the Saturday Review; the music performed under Bernstein and Schoenberg; the art shown in the Museum of Modern Art; the theatre of Tennessee Williams and Arthur Miller—the whole works. As far as Mr. Macdonald is concerned, it's all phony.

Of course I don't expect anyone reading this book to agree with all of it. But it's a splendid experience just for once to listen to someone whose standards are wholly unswerving and who is determined, in every way except the creation of poetry, to be right.

The complete works of Thornton Wilder, Archibald MacLeish, Pearl Buck, John Hersey, Herman Wouk, John Steinbeck.

I salute Dwight Macdonald, worthy successor of H. L. Mencken and Thornton Veblen. Long may he live and say kindly and fearlessly what he thinks.

NEW YORK—There's a new status symbol for the American woman, and if it catches on a lot of professional writers are going to be in trouble. It has not been uncommon in the past to hear a woman say "My life would make a wonderful book if it could only be put down on paper."

It's usually ended there, but recently, if we are to believe Mr. S. J. Michelson, who runs a ghost writer's service in New York, the more well-heeled women are finally starting to do something about it. They're hiring ghost writers to write their books, and paying publishers to print them.

There is nothing like having your own book between hard covers to impress the neighborhood. For prestige it beats a mink coat, a foreign car and a trip to Europe, and thanks to people like Mr. Michelson, anyone can write a book now—if she has the money.

Every housewife with a literary bent, dreams of writing another Peyton Place, which will not only bring her fame and wealth but will also take care of all the people in her town that she holds a grudge against.

Not only does a published book give a woman social esteem but it gives her an outlet for her frustrations and emotions, and Mr. Michelson, who works with a tape recorder, figures it costs just as much to write a book and get everything out of your system, as it does to see a psychiatrist. And at the end of the treatment you have something to show for your investment.

Mr. Michelson says all he needs with a woman is about two or three sessions with a tape recorder before he is ready to write her book. Mr. Michelson charges anywhere from $1,500 to $4,000 to ghost write a book for a woman, depending on the length.

Usually the woman, if she's got the money, has her book published by what is known as a "vanity publisher." That is to say a publisher who will print the book, providing the author guarantees to buy 2,000 copies of it, which comes to about $1,500 or $2,000.

Many vanity publishers, and it's become quite a big business, will not only arrange to have the book published, but will also set up a literary cocktail party to launch the work, and even see that the book is reviewed by a resident critic.

It is the cocktail party, the autograph signing, and the review that makes the work, effort and expense of "writing" a book so worthwhile.

In some cases a woman has been so happy with her first "book" that she's hired Mr. Michelson to write a second one for her. He works on two or three books at the same time. He says there is a usual pattern to ghost written books and that most women who have a story to tell usually want to put down on paper in one way or another that men are no damn good.

Book Debut Bringing Author Here

Author Mrs. Hazel O'Neill of Sloan is to visit Victoria for several days beginning Saturday to mark publication of her book Doughboy Daze.

The book is the second to be published by Gray's Publishing Ltd., a firm operated by Gray Campbell of Sidney. The first was Blind Date by blind author John Windsor.

Doughboy Daze is scheduled to appear about Saturday. The author of the humorous book has lived among Doughboys for many years and taught their children for five years about 25 years ago.

Extra Hours For Shopping

Extra nighttime store hours for Christmas shopping start this Thursday.

Stores will stay open to 9 p.m. the next three Thursdays in addition to normal 5 p.m. Friday closing.

Late closing hours will also be in effect Monday to Friday, Dec. 17 to Dec. 21, with normal Saturday closing throughout the whole Christmas shopping period.

City Pioneer, Athlete W. L. B. Young, 89, Dies

A native of Victoria who loved the outdoors and went fishing until he was 80 died yesterday morning in St. Joseph's Hospital at 89.

William L. B. Young was born at 124 Michigan in a house which recently was torn down to make room for an apartment block and which changed its street number to the 400 block.

Mr. Young was a well-known athlete, proficient in basketball, rowing and gymnastics, and a life member of the James Bay Athletic Association.

In the spring of 1900 he went to the Klondike, held an accountant's job in Dawson City and mined for gold. In 1902 Mr. Young went to a Port Eslington fish cannery as business adviser, where he met his wife, then Margaret Watson.

The couple was married in Vancouver in 1904. Mr. Young and his brother, H. B. Young, took over a drygoods store in Victoria, The White House, which burned down in 1910.

Mr. Young then retired at Cowichan Bay until he bought a partnership in a Duncan store several years later. He left in 1928 for Vancouver, but returned to Victoria in 1930, where he stayed for the rest of his life.

He worked here with several firms until his retirement in 1950.

Mr. Young is survived by his wife, Margaret, 1016 Victoria Avenue; four sons, W. R. Young, 139 Passmore; R. B. Young, Kelowna; P. B. Young, Trail, and D. A. Young, Hamilton, Ont.; one daughter, Mrs. H. M. Francis, Halifax; one brother, H. B. Young, in San Mateo, Calif.; 16 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Burglaries Net $100

Four burglaries over the weekend kept city police busy but loot only amounted to about $100.

At 3:20 p.m. Saturday Saanich police called city police for help in chasing two youths who had broken into an empty house at 1334 Slater.

The boys, about 16 years of age, clambered out of a window when disturbed. They were chased across the Cedar Hill golf course but eluded police.

Harry Hennis, 315 Raynor, reported his house had been burgled Sunday. Entrance was gained through forcing a basement door and two bedrooms were ransacked.

Missing were a carton of cigarettes, $35 in United States currency, a $32 electric razor and a $5 dinner ring.

At 10:47 p.m. Sunday, Mrs. Jessie McGrath, 643 Ralston, reported her house had been burgled but nothing was missing.

At 12:22 a.m. yesterday a burglary was reported at the Red Kettle Cafe, 826 Yates. The front door was "jimmied" open at the lock and the cigarette machine was broken into. Amount stolen was not known.

Woman Killed By New Driver

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Vancouver woman was killed Sunday when a car, driven by a woman with a learner's driving licence, smashed into a store front, struck the woman down, then swerved back onto the street.

Dead is Mrs. Shirley Armstrong, 34.

Police said the victim was hurled 100 feet by the impact. The driver was accompanied by her husband.

We've got 40 horses that run on chicken feed

The Volkswagen will cruise all day at 72 miles per hour.

In the city, and on the highway, it averages 38 miles to a gallon of gas.

What's the secret? How does the Volkswagen do so much for so little?

We wish we had a good, simple answer. Instead, there are a lot of reasons that explain the VW's amazing performance.

To begin with, the Volkswagen is lighter than conventional cars. Not only because it's compact, but because of the way it's designed.

For example, there is no radiator or plumbing. (We use air instead of water to cool the engine.)

The Volkswagen has no long, heavy drive shaft that runs from the front of the car to the back. The VW engine is in the rear where it gives direct power to the drive wheels. The weight of the engine provides better traction on ice and snow.

And the engine weighs less because it's made with magnesium. (Magnesium is one of the many products we buy in Canada.)

Take a look at the front of the car and you'll see how we've reduced wind resistance. Instead of a flat grill, like the bow of a barge, the Volkswagen is streamlined.

Enough talk. Your Volkswagen dealer has 40 horses all saddled up and ready for a test ride. (Don't be afraid to go for a good run. It costs us chicken feed.)

Turkeys For Toys!

The more toys, the more turkeys.

This simple equation will be the key to success at the Kinmen Giant Christmas Bingo one week from today, spokesman Jack Phillion says.

More than 7,000 bingo fans—all with one or more toys to be surrendered at the door of the Memorial Arena in exchange for a free ticket on the turkey draw—are expected in the 7,800-capacity arena.

TO AID 500 FUND

An added bonus awaits bingoists as well—many extra games over and above the usual 14, says Mr. Phillion.

The giant bingo game, proven over the years to be the most popular of all, is partly in aid of the Colonist 500 Christmas Fund.

How? Well, the Kinmen will donate the turkeys. The toys will be auctioned off at the bingo on Dec. 14, and the money netted will go toward the 500 Fund. "Don't forget to bring the toys," says Mr. Phillion.

Goldstream Source Now

Best Water Supply Halved by Storms

Half of Greater Victoria's best water supply has been cut off for one week and current strong rainfalls make it impossible to repair the damage.

Oak Bay Bid Low -But It's Accepted

"It's funny," Oak Bay Coun. Allan Cox said yesterday, "that when we got a low bid we got suspicious."

The municipal works committee voted anyway to accept a $1,700 bid from L. Jones and P. Parry to clear sections of Hare, Cedar Hill Cross Road and other road allowances in a section to be developed. Next lowest bid was $2,400 and five others ranged up to $4,864.

The Daily Colonist learned last night.

"We now depend entirely on the inferior water supply system from Goldstream River," said Greater Victoria Water Board Commissioner Ronald Upward. "If anything happens to that system, we're in trouble."

Greater Victoria's good water comes from the Sooke area, and the storm Nov. 19 disrupted one of 50 trestles in an inaccessible wilderness, he said.

"We will have to rely on the Goldstream water which, right now, is of a yellow color due to swamp water and heavy rainfalls."

It may take up to three weeks to reach the break in the flume with the heavy machinery needed to make the repairs, he said.

"We will practically have to reconstruct an old logging road," Mr. Upward said. "Out there it's like a quagmire. We need at least three dry days so everything dries up."

The washout in the flume is within about one mile of Glanz Lake, near where the YMCA's summer boy camp is situated, he said.

Mr. Upward blamed the ancient water system in the Sooke area and the heavy rainfalls of the past weeks for the washout.

Total cost will probably run into $5,000 to $6,000, but most of the cost is getting into this area."

Fresh Freight

Salmon Please Britons

A new market has been found halfway around the world for B.C.'s fresh salmon. It was learned yesterday.

London fish dealers, pleased with the recent air freighting of an experimental shipment of chum silverbright salmon, said they are looking forward to receiving shipments of troll-caught fresh spring salmon in the six-to-nine-pound class in 1963.

The office of the High Commissioner for Canada in London was advised of the "excellent" condition in which fresh salmon arrived in England "dry, clean and with no signs of any damage whatsoever."

Some of the fish were "rather heavily gillnet marked," and while not generally acceptable on the market as frozen fish, had retail sales appeal because they were still silvery. Most popular fish would be those caught by trollers and seiners, rather than by gillnetters.

Scottish and Irish salmon caught late in the season is water marked and not as appealing to customers as the B.C. fish, it was reported.

Two cartons of the fresh fish shipped without refrigeration from Victoria to London were sold in the popular Billingsgate fish market. Part of the shipment was also sold at the famous Selfridge's department store in London.

The experiment was conducted by Oakland Industries Ltd. of Victoria, through use of a new type of cardboard carton designed for shipment of fish.

Five Seek Three Seats

Oak Bay Race Suddenly Lively

By HARVEY SHEPHERD

Money and recreation will be major issues in what may turn out to be a surprisingly spirited municipal election battle for three council seats in Oak Bay.

The five surprise candidates who filed yesterday to make it an eight-way fight indicated they would go to the hustings on those issues.

RUN AGAIN

Incumbent councillors John Watts and Fred Robinson and Oak Bay music store proprietor John P. Johnson filed papers last week. Coun. Fred Hawes will not seek re-election.

Alex Hendry said he decided to run following a suggestion from Coun. Hawes who, like him, is a lumber company executive.

Mr. Hendry said he supports revision of the present system of per-capita grants from the provincial government so municipalities would receive a greater share of increasing provincial revenues. He also wants the province to assume a greater share of education costs.

NO COMMENT

Mr. Hendry didn't want to comment without further study on plans for an Oak Bay recreation centre, but candidate Conrad I. R. Watling said he "would do all he could to further the cause."

Mr. Watling, a private investigator who has been active in youth work, said he is especially interested in providing needed activities for Oak Bay teenagers. He advocates establishment of a vocational school in the Greater Victoria area.

AGAINST CENTRE

Also calling for an increase in recreation facilities is postal clerk G. F. Kenny, but he is dead against establishment of a recreation centre. Such a large facility is not needed, says Mr. Kenny who favors construction of several small swimming pools.

He would re-establish the municipal play-school program, cancelled last summer.

William James Cull, retired, is making his third bid for a council seat. He supports recreation centre proposals, advocates tight reins on the municipal budget and action to cut the proportion of the municipal tax dollar that goes for education.

Plumber Joseph McAllister said he is especially interested in the problem of Oak Bay's aged, especially the lack of housing at a price many can afford. He supports a recreation centre and thinks it should also serve the aged.

REEVE LEE ... no opposition

Reeve Lee To Give Hall Plans

A public meeting will be held by Central Saanich Council in the Mount Newton High School gymnasium at 8 p.m. Friday.

Reeve E. Gordon Lee, re-elected yesterday by acclamation, will be chairman of the meeting in which plans for a new municipal hall will be explained and a progress report for 1962 given to the ratepayers.

Last-Minute Rush

Vote Lineup Feast, Famine

Election lineups in Greater Victoria yesterday ranged from a last-minute rush of candidates in Oak Bay to no contest in Central Saanich.

Nominations closed at noon for the municipal elections Dec. 6.

Referendums will be put to the voters in Central Saanich for permission to build a new, $40,000 municipal hall, Saanich for an opinion on amalgamation with Victoria, and Sidney on boundary extension, regional library and waterfront park dedication.

Candidates are as follows, with "X" indicating incumbents:

OAK BAY

Council (three seats) — (X) Fred Robinson, (X) John Watts, John P. Johnson, Alexander Hendry, Joseph McAllister, William James Cull, Gerald Francis Kenny, Conrad I. R. Watling.

School Board (one seat) — (X) Ralph Freethy, Dr. Carson B. Jamieson.

CENTRAL SAANICH

Reeve — (X) R. Gordon Lee (elected).

Council (three seats) — (X) Thomas Mitchell, (X) Albert Vickars, (X) A. K. Hemstreet (all elected).

School Board (one seat) — (X) Cuthbert Brown (elected).

Platbladt — $40,000 to erect new municipal hall.

SAANICH

Council (three seats) — (X) Joseph Casey, (X) Robert Chard, (X) Harold Todd, C. H. MacMillan, Donald C. Mathison, Leslie H. Passmore, Lionel C. Speller.

School board, District 61 (one seat) — (X) William George Curran (elected); District 63 (one seat) — (X) Reginald Sinkinson (elected).

Plebiscite—opinion on amalgamation with city of Victoria.

ESQUIMALT

Council (three seats) (X) James Bryant, (X) E. L. De Costa, (X) Walter Lock, E. S. Cassels.

School Board (one seat) — D. E. Hookham (elected).

SIDNEY

Village Commission (two seats) — (X) J. E. Basher, (X) J. H. Larocque, L. R. Christian.

School Board (one seat, for Sidney's first elected trustee) — T. A. Aiers, Gordon Campbell, Frank Richards.

Rural trustee (one seat) — (X) Lewis Harvey (elected).

Plebiscite — boundary extension, regional library, waterfront park dedication.

RCMP Story For Kiwanis

RCMP Assistant Commissioner D. O. Forrest will tell the RCMP story at a luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Victoria North at 6:15 p.m. today at the Tally Ho Travelodge.

Apathy Under Attack

Apathy of ratepayers in not putting up candidates for school board trustee was scored by Coun. G. K. Semmon at Esquimalt council last night.

"It is a very sorry state of affairs indeed when after term the seat is filled by acclamation," he said.

He said trustees had the important job of overseeing the spending of "many millions of dollars every year . . . there should be an election for the position."

"You'd think PTAs would put up candidates for school trustee," he said.

LIVE HOUR

He was told by Reeve A. C. Wurtelle the post had literally been filled at the 11th hour.

"I didn't think there would be anyone at all," said the reeve.

He went around the municipality "in a quiet manner" looking for someone to fill the post.

HELP BY REEVE

It was not until 11:45 a.m. papers were filed by D. E. Hookham, an electrical supplies manager.

The seat was previously occupied by Richard Reeve, who represented Esquimalt on the board of school district 61 for 14 years. He announced his retirement in May.

Six-Meeting Campaign In Saanich

Six all-candidate meetings will be open to the public in Saanich between now and the Dec. 6 election. They are:

Today — St. George's Church Hall, Maynard Street in Cadboro Bay, 8:15 p.m.

Wed. — Lake Hill Women's Institute Hall on Quadra, 8 p.m.

Thurs. — Mt. View High School on Carey Road, 8 p.m.

Fri. — St. Luke's Church Hall on Cedar Hill Cross Road, 8 p.m.

Sat. — Lansdowne Junior High School, 8 p.m.

Sun. — Royal Oak High School, 8 p.m.

Per Capita Basis

Library Cost 'Would Climb'

By IAN STREET

A proposed new system of sharing library costs in Greater Victoria would result in increased payments by Saanich, Esquimalt and Central Saanich.

Miss Rose Vainstein, a UBC library expert, said in her report on expansion of services in Greater Victoria, the present cost-sharing formula based on circulation "is neither economic nor sound."

APPROVED IN PRINCIPLE

The report, released yesterday after getting approval in principle from the Victoria public library board, suggested a per-capita charge for services of at least $2.

It added: "A necessary corollary of such a (per capita) formula, however, would have to be improved local access to library service so as not to penalize those who live the farthest from existing service centres."

BRANCH LIBRARY

Miss Vainstein proposed establishment of a branch library at Esquimalt in 1961 with an Oak Bay branch following in the fall of 1963 and a similar community service in Saanich late in 1966.

A second bookmobile should be purchased next year and used initially to serve Oak Bay until its own branch library is established.

The report gave revised sharing of costs based on what

Esquimalt, Saanich Both Eager, Wary

Esquimalt and Saanich library board representatives last night welcomed the thought of increased library service but were wary of having to pay increased costs.

Esquimalt faces a "big decision on the new library," Coun. D. H. Nelson, Esquimalt's representative on the Victoria Public Library board, told The Daily Colonist last night.

"It will cost Esquimalt more than under the present system of assessment but on the other hand we will be the first to benefit should the plan be accepted," Coun. Nelson said.

Saanich's representative on the board, Coun. Gregory Cook, said "an equitable formula must be found for cost sharing and a fair agreement worked out" on the proposal which would result in one or two branch libraries being established in Saanich.

Saanich currently has no vote power on the board, although it paid nearly $80,000 for library service in 1961.

But since the municipality has 8.98 per cent of the area's population under the $2 per capita system this contribution would have been increased to $24,098.

INCREASED CHARGE

Saanich last year contributed $79,851 under the present usage system. Introduction of the minimum per capita charge would boost this amount to $97,732.

By comparison Victoria contributions would drop under the suggested new formula from $115,943 to $109,862 and Oak Bay from $34,863 to $33,870. Central Saanich which paid $4,817 in 1961 would have paid $5,904 under the per capita system.

Total contributions under present system in 1961 amounted to $245,119. At $2 per capita this would have been $271,504 and at $2.25 it would have risen to $305,442, the report said.

The report also contained a "hypothetical public library budget for a community between 15,000-20,000 population" amounting to $85,610 during its first year of operation. This was to provide a yardstick of cost of establishing separate library facilities in a municipality about the size of Esquimalt or Oak Bay.

Council subsequently rejected the application.

There was no opposition during a public hearing last night to the application which would permit conversion of a state-of-the-art, two-story home into a six-suite building.

CREDIT TO SAANICH

Avis Walton told council that amenities of the property, including a cherry tree planted May 2, 1958, will be preserved and "be a credit to the municipality." If her husband, city contractor Paddy Walton, is permitted to handle the alteration.

The alternative, she said, is "this can be turned over to someone who will build a bunch of NHA sugar-box houses."

Council informed the family that final reading will not be given the bylaw until the lands and planning committee completes its recommendations on regulation of garden apartment developments.

In other public hearings, council decided against permitting rezoning from non-conforming residential to commercial the Black Swan restaurant-grocery near Elk Lake.

Rezoning Ahead For Old Estate

The old Walton estate on the southeast corner of Richmond and Lansdowne may be converted into a garden apartment type of development.

Saanich council last night authorized preparation of a by-law which would rezone the 1.3-acre estate of the late G. H. Walton from single family residential to garden apartment use.

Strong objections were voiced by neighbors to an earlier application for rezoning of the property to permit construction of a high-rise apartment, and council subsequently rejected the application.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: You have no mercy on men who smoke foul-smelling cigars in offices, elevators and so on. Now I wonder if you will have the courage to come out and say something about a problem which is equally distressing to males. I refer to women who work in crowded offices and drown themselves in perfume.

I have become nauseated by a little money of my own and I don't mind spending it. But what has this man been doing all these years?

The more I think about the life I might have with him the more frightened I get. How does it sound to you?—HOLES IN MY HEAD.

Dear Friend: Your signature sums up the situation nicely and it also suggests you've already made up your mind. I don't know what your life is like at present, but I can't imagine it could be so bad that marriage to this bird would be an improvement.

Confidential to Eyes That Do Not See: You also have a brain that does not work. Do you actually believe you can pass off that story? I can tell you now your husband will not believe it. The truth is the best route. Take it.

Dear Ann Landers: I was utterly fascinated by the comments of the women who were willing to drop everything and go to Colorado and marry, sight unseen, the engineer who was looking for a wife.

Can you tell me why, for example, a lady who comes from European nobility, speaks seven languages, cooks Hungarian, German, Portuguese, Spanish and American, enjoys catering to a man, knows all the secrets (including how to make love), has to look in the newspaper to find a husband?—PUZZLED.

Dear Ann Landers: This, my friend, is one eloquent reason I refuse to put readers in touch with one another through the column. They may sound perfectly divine on paper, and still be sappy as a maple tree in April.

Dear Ann Landers: I am engaged to marry a man who is almost 50 years of age. He has never been married before and I'm beginning to see why.

Jake is scared to death of his mother and can't seem to make a decision without checking with her first to see how she will take it. Recently, I found out by accident that the home we are planning to live in is on his mother's property. Jake has been a farmer for 12 years but he can't tell me whether or not he has made any money. My brothers are farmers and if they didn't know the answer to a question like this the Internal Revenue Service would soon be over to see them.

He says he doesn't have any money for repairing the house or for buying furniture. I have

Tomorrow, the Georgian Lounge of the Empress Hotel will be filled with Christmas decorations, from miniature trees to door and novelty displays. The Festival of Christmas Decorations, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to the Family and Children's Service, will be open from 12 noon to 9:30 p.m. Mrs. George Pearkes will present prizes to both adult and school children winners. Student nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital work on a gay decoration made of egg crates. They are, left, Miss Bernice George, Miss Betty Myrvold, Miss Frances Sahli and Miss Clare Moss.—(William Boucher)

'Wrapped in Mystery'

Longer Silhouette in Paris

PARIS (TNS) — From 10 Paris fashion experts, here are hot tips for top girls:

Lengthen your silhouette to look as long and slim as an arrow," says Marc Bohan of Dior. The best way to get the new red line is to wear long jumpers over reed-skirts and tube dresses. High hairdos and shoes in the same color as your stockings will also lengthen the silhouette.

"Learn to select what style is best for your own physique," advises Coco Chanel. According to her, you will only look smart in clothes in which you feel comfortable.

"Be feminine and be natural," urges Pierre Cardin. Cardin's new feminine decollete is a slit slashed down to the waist in front on a black cocktail dress. For the "natural look," Cardin has simply banded the bra.

VIVID COLORS
"Wear striking colors," insists Yves Saint Laurent. He shows simple shirtwaist dresses, one in emerald green and another in deep brown velvet. He also combines peacock blue or shocking pink outfits with black jet jewelry.

"Be a fashionable hostess and wear long but casual skirts when you have guests at home," recommends Simonetta.

"Dress preciously," prescribes Pierre Balmain. One de luxe outfit will give you more fashion value than two or three inexpensive garments.

"Wrap yourself in mystery," advises Nina Ricci. Hide your figure in capes or muffle your face in furled stoles during daytime.

HOODS
"Look romantic by wearing hoods," says Madame Gres. She offers hooded raincoats, hooded cocktail capes and even a hooded evening gown.

"Get a new look through a new hairdo," suggests famed Paris hairdresser Alexandre.

"Be daring with makeup," urges beauty expert Francine of Revlon. Don't be bourgeois he insists.

Make Birks Your Christmas Shopping Headquarters

For the Convenience of Your Christmas Shopping
You May Shop Four Ways at Birks

1 — YOU MAY PAY CASH

Many of our customers prefer to pay cash at the time they make their purchase. This is, however, only one of the several ways in which to shop at Birks.

2 — MONTHLY CHARGE ACCOUNTS

Many other Birks customers find it convenient to use their monthly Charge Account. Those who prefer this method of payment—and have not already opened a Charge Account—are invited to do so in time for Christmas Shopping. The few formalities required can be concluded at counter with a minimum of delay.

3 — BIRKS BUDGET ACCOUNTS

Our Budget Account Plan is becoming increasingly popular. On any purchase of $15.00 or over, a Budget Account may be opened, with Budget Terms as low as 10% down (minimum down payment $5.00) and the balance may be extended over a period as long as 12 months.

4 — BIRKS LAY-AWAY PLAN

Under this convenient plan—much favoured by early Christmas Shoppers—you may pay a small deposit and the article is held for future delivery. The balance is payable either by further deposits or in one final amount, as you prefer.

From Nov. 29th till Christmas Birks will remain open every Thursday and Friday till 9 p.m.

Couple Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Down, of Suite 8, 103 Mendez Street, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Monday.

They were married in Toronto and moved west to Calgary where Mr. Down worked for the CPR. On retirement in 1947, they moved to Victoria. Mr. and Mrs. Down have two daughters, Mrs. C. L. Kent of Calgary, and Mrs. D. E. Kent of Powell River; three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Their daughters and families called at the reception held Sunday, along with out-of-town guests Mr. and Mrs. Martin of Cattermole, Lori and Marty, Mr. and Mrs. T. Burke all of Powell River; Mr. and Mrs. W. Down, of Carbon, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. D. Palksen of Heston, and Mr. Dennis Kent from UBC.

Victorian visitors were Mr. and Mrs. G. Webb, Mr. and Mrs. R. Gill, Mr. and Mrs. A. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cottrill, Mrs. F. Hicks, Mrs. M. Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. A. McDonald, Mrs. E. Corby, Mr. and Mrs. W. Cottrill, Lt.-Cmdr. and Mrs. A. C. Kent, Mr. and Mrs. L. Baxter, Mr. and Mrs. A. Miller.

On Monday Lt.-Cmdr. and Mrs. A. C. Kent entertained at a family dinner party. Telegrams were received from the prime minister and other dignitaries.

Holly Party

Final preparations are being made for the Holly Coffee Party sponsored by St. Joseph's School of Nursing Alumnae, to be held Dec. 5 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the nurses' residence. Price of admission includes refreshment.

Novelty and homebaking will be sold, and a baby sitting room will care for small children.

Conveners for the affair are Mrs. D. Eden, Mrs. A. Craig, Mrs. K. Roach, Mrs. L. Spencer and Mrs. E. Lewis.

Mrs. Pike To Open Fall Tea

The Lake Hill Women's Institute met recently to consider reports from committees and to make plans for the fall tea. Mrs. Sidney Pike has kindly consented to open the affair on Nov. 28 at 2 p.m. Proceeds go to the Handicapped Equipment Supply Association. Mrs. Roscoe Myles is general convenor. Mrs. D. McGregor is in charge of home cooking. Mrs. A. Buchanan, tea; Mrs. W. Carpenter, gift stall.

The institute's regular gift of groceries to the Saanich welfare department was presented by Mrs. E. Glover and Mrs. A. Buchanan. Annual collection of fruit and vegetables for the Solarium, donated by members and children of Cloverdale Elementary School and Humpty Dumpty Kindergarten, was made.

B'Nai B'Rith Name Women

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. William D. Tucker, of Toronto, co-founder of the Voice of Women, was named woman of the year for 1962 by the B'Nai B'Rith Women of Toronto Sunday at the annual covenant breakfast in Holy Blossom Temple.

Presentation of the plaque and citation award for her "outstanding contribution to Canadian life" was made to Mrs. Tucker by Mrs. Jules Caplan, past president of the Manor chapter.

Pre-Christmas Bazaar

Pre-Christmas bazaar and tea will be held by the Erskine Presbyterian Women's Guild, in the church hall, Harriet Road and Lurline Avenue from 2 to 5 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 29.

(BETWEEN NOW AND DEC. 15th)

Get your home fresh and bright for Christmas entertainment . . . and give those prized drapes the protection they deserve.

BEAT THE DEADLINE ON DAMAGE . . .

Safeguard against hidden deterioration . . . only checked by regular cleaning

If your drapes are less than a year old, or if you have had them dry-cleaned within that time, then they are alright. Beyond that time they are exposed to damage caused by acid-forming gases found in every home, by action of sunshine and heating systems.

Often this damage is not detected, being hidden under surface dust and soil. When this is removed by dry-cleaning, then acute color fading and material rot may be discernible. To avoid this danger it is recommended that your drapes be cleaned every year. Here at Individual we give your fabrics the best of scientific care . . . but they may be damaged.

Here Are The Damaging Factors

Direct or indirect rays of the sun • Humidity. Air temperature or concentrated heat from heating equipment • Gases in the atmosphere • Soot, dirt, soil, dust and grime.

Anti-Nausea Drug Safe, Say Makers

LONDON (AP) — A leading British drug firm Monday announced it had not found any connection between a drug banned from public sale in Scandinavia and the birth of malformed babies.

The announcement from British Drug Houses Limited followed warnings of possible dangers of the drug Postafen in Norway, Sweden and Denmark. Postafen is an anti-nausea sickness drug manufactured in Belgium. It also has been used to combat nausea in early days of pregnancy. In Britain it is known as Anacolin.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration is checking on use in the United States of Postafen.

The drug is available in the United States in tablet form containing the anti-nausea medicine. It also is available in a suppository form combined with a different anti-nausea medicine.

Drug Sales Banned

THE HAGUE (UPI) — Five European countries have halted over-the-counter sales of drugs likely to be used by expectant mothers as a precaution against possible birth deformities.

The action by Italy, Denmark, Sweden, Norway and Spain came as government investigators checked out the weight-reducer Preludin, said to be linked to malformed births in England, and other suspect drugs.

A similar investigation was launched in The Netherlands.

OTTAWA (CP) — Health Minister Monteith said Monday he sees no reason for alarm over what may be a medical coincidence that a woman in Britain gave birth to malformed children in 1958 and 1960 after taking the drug Preludin.

He told the Commons that his department made inquiries regarding the drug, on sale in Canada on a doctor's prescription for the last six years.

'Confession' Nets Fine For Paper

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Southern Company Limited proprietor of the Winnipeg Tribune Monday was convicted on two counts under a Criminal Code provision forbidding publication of an admission of confession given in evidence at a preliminary hearing.

Magistrate Ian Dubienki fined the company $125 and costs on each count.

A stay of proceedings was entered on two similar charges laid earlier against Ross Munro, publisher of The Tribune.

Go out on a limb, serve Seagram's Gin

That's the spirit! While most folks deck the halls with colourless gins, you serve up Seagram's Gin with its hint of amber colour. The difference, of course, is dryness. By ageing Seagram's Gin longer we remove unwanted sweetness and perfume. As the gin becomes crisply dry, Nature supplies that amber tint. So remember, 'tis the season to serve Seagram's. Because it's extra dry.

LETTERS to the Editor

To be considered for publication in whole or in part letters must be on subjects of general interest, and must be 300 words in length, and, if signed with a pen-name, must be accompanied by the writer's name and address.

The commercial vulgarization of Christmas is world-wide and deplored as much by sensible Americans as it is by less enterprising people, and the fact that two housewives in Victoria have said their piece and had a terrific public reaction in their support may have consequences which could be far reaching.

Can anyone deny that, for nearly everybody, Christmas is a festival of stress and strain—of gulping and guzzling—of a tough struggle to keep up with the Joneses in the frantic exchange of cards and presents. At one time Christmas was for children—adults took pleasure in their joy. (Mrs.) R. ROSS, 1238 Richardson Street.

Warmth in Dull Days

There is nothing wrong with our public-spirited Victoria merchants who at vast effort and expense try to infuse the spirit of Christmas, and bring the beauty and warmth of the festive season in decoration, lights and carol music to our lovely city during what normally would be the gloomy dull days of November and December. There are always the cold, dark and empty days to follow in both January and February, when we long for a breath of spring. The great tragedy is those mothers who cannot restrain themselves or resist the impulse to charge down town, to charge this, and charge that, and use up six months' credit by the end of November, to meet the obligations of Christmas. A. L. STEVENSON, 2765 Belmont Avenue.

All in Accord

With reference to the early start of Christmas, my name and others, appeared in Friday's paper by some error, but by no means through any fault of Mrs. MacMinn or Mrs. Collins. However, I congratulate these two women for having the courage to bring this situation forth and letting the public express their opinions. I received several phone calls and all were in accord with Mrs. MacMinn and Mrs. Collins. God bless them. (Mrs.) A. POLITANO, 3352 Gibbs Road.

Observation Ordered For Accused

Arrested by city police after two persons were injured in a Government Street store Saturday afternoon, Michael J. McGuire, 22, of 1711 Duchess, will undergo observation by a psychiatrist before he answers two charges of assault. McGuire appeared in city police court yesterday morning, charged with assaulting 70-year-old Lum Wah, 2527 Blanshard, and 13-year-old Dwayne Laughren, 2715 Scarfe.

CASE REMANDED

On the application of lawyer Rodney Taylor, representing McGuire, the case was remanded for a week without McGuire pleading to the charges. Bail of $500 was allowed. Mr. Taylor indicated to the court that McGuire would be examined by Dr. Douglas Alcorn before his next appearance in court.

The incident happened about 2:15 p.m. Saturday at Vaters' Store, 2802 Government. Lum Wah is reported in good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital with lacerations over the left eye and possible rib injuries.

No Test Blasts

GENEVA (Reuters)—A Swedish seismological institute has detected no Soviet nuclear tests since the announced Russian cutoff date of Nov. 30 despite Western reports of continued Soviet testing. It was learned here Monday.

Power-Pole Jungle

This power-pole jungle was snapped by photographer William Boucher as he faced north on Douglas from Burnside. Foreboding effect of telephone lines serves to draw poles closer to the observer.

13th Man Safe As Ship Sinks

TOKYO (AP)—A 40-ton Japanese fishing boat with 13 crew members sank after running aground off the coast of northern Japan Saturday. One crew member was killed and 11 are missing. The 13th man swam three-quarters of a mile to shore.

Peace Money Always There Says Premier

Back from a successful foray into the New York money market, Premier Bennett said yesterday people have asked him how B.C. can be debt-free while he is "off borrowing money."

He pointed out that he has not been borrowing money for the government, but for Crown agencies which are capable of repaying it themselves.

VERY PROFITABLE

"The Crown corporations' operations are very profitable," he stated.

They will have a combined net profit in excess of $20,000,000 this year, he assured reporters.

By contrast, such federal Crown corporations as the CBC and Trans-Canada Air Lines "lost millions."

The premier said British Columbia's government is the only one in the world with a genuine equity bond to offer to its own residents and will be the only government in Canada this year to produce a surplus.

SET UP SYNDICATE

While in New York he took delivery of $25,000,000 borrowed on behalf of the B.C. Toll Authority and set up a seven-company syndicate to finance the $800,000,000 Peace River hydro project.

He said there had been criticism aimed at B.C. for its New York dealings on two counts. That it was not dealing with top financial firms and that it was about to surrender a measure of Peace River project management to the lenders.

DEAL WITH TOP

"We deal with the very tops," he said.

"I think we set up the best syndicate ever set up in North America."

Heading the group, he went on, is the First Boston Corporation, whose president, George Woods, is slated to become the next president of the World Bank.

The premier said Mr. Woods staged a dinner on his behalf. "I not only tried to do a selling job for B.C. but for Canada as well," he recalled.

"I told them Canada is the wealthiest nation, per capita, potentially, in the world."

"And that British Columbia is the choice part of Canada," he added with a laugh.

There will be no trouble securing long-term money for the Peace "whenever we need it."

He denied that B.C. would yield any management rights in securing the funds.

Office-Seekers Set As Election Nears

Dozens of Vancouver Islanders—with eyes on the Dec. 6 municipal elections—filed their nomination papers yesterday.

Here is a survey of the candidates who intend to run in the various cities, towns, villages and districts.

LAKE COWICHAN

Two seats filled by acclamation. Incumbent Matthew Nelson, La Forge returned to office. Archibald R. Greenwell also elected. Only one nomination—incumbent Archibald Greenwell—filled papers for two school trustee vacancies. Remaining seat will be filled at a later date.

COMOX

Three candidates will contest two vacancies on the village commission. Running are incumbents Mary E. Cliffe and Richard D. Graham, as well as Marcel Godin.

QUAICHUM BEACH

Two vacancies filled by acclamation. Incumbents E. H. MacMillan and H. C. Good. Mrs.

Barbara Nelson was acclaimed to the sole trustee vacancy.

CAMPBELL RIVER

Contesting two vacancies on the commission will be Arthur Clinton, Kenneth Blaney, James Moffatt and Peter Lauren. Three school trustee vacancies will be sought by incumbent James Standeven as well as Bruce Saunders, Jack Sommers, Robert Langdon and E. R. Zinck.

PARKSVILLE

Two vacancies on the commission will be contested by Edward Irving, Walter Avery and G. E. Mayfield. Incumbent school trustee C. H. Leifer was returned by acclamation.

NORTH COWICHAN

Gerald Smith and Tony Staples were returned to council by acclamation. Seeking five seats on school board are Wilfred Peck, W. P. Mason, Mrs. Isabel L. Tarlton, Joseph Fruminto, Edith Buckner and John Elford.

TOFINO

Two vacancies on council will be filled from three candidates. They are incumbents Dr. H. R. McDairmid and William Silta and Thomas Pleasants.

ALBERT BAY

Candidates A. G. Clelland, Arthur Granger, G. A. Peterson and G. A. Warden will contest two seats on the commission. J. A. Croft took the sole school-trustee vacancy by acclamation.

LADYSMITH

Post of commission chairman to be sought by incumbent Leonard Ryan and Arne Hill. Seeking two seats on the commission are incumbents Peter Battle and Thomas Trant, and Onni Paria. A one-year term on the commission is being sought by Mrs. Kathleen Grouhel, Stanley Heys, Karl Walker and Kenneth Stewart, with one to be elected. Two school trustees will be selected from Betty Davis, Fred Harker and Harold Edwards.

UMBERLAND

Three seats, all filled by acclamation, went to incumbents William Henderson, Peter Cameron and Gedre Apps. No nominations were received for the single school trustee required.

ULUKEIST

Four candidates will seek two vacancies on village council. Running are Harry Taylor, Thomas Tugwell, George Ashcroft, James Perkin. James Forbes was named commission chairman by acclamation for a one-year period. Trustee Ronald Burley was elected by acclamation.

Climber Dies

STORM MOUNTAIN, Utah (AP) — Three Salt Lake City mountain climbers, roped together, fell from a crevice on storm mountain Sunday onto rocks 100 feet below. Gailen Jorgenson, 22, was killed while Paul Burton, 22, and Carlette Ybarguen, 21, were injured.

Boating Mishap Fatal to Islander

POWELL RIVER—Leonard Dale Knapp, 34, of Powell River died in hospital here Sunday after being rescued with a companion from a swamped glimmer.

Police said Knapp and Russell Arthur Perry, 25, clung to the boat's wheelhouse for two hours when it broke away from the hull in high seas. Both men were suffering from shock and exposure when rescued by an RCMP patrol boat. The pair had been hunting on Texada Island. Knapp was the father of two children.

Search Organized

Three Hunters Walk to Safety

LAKE COWICHAN—Three hunters lost Saturday and Sunday in the Lake Cowichan and Cayuse areas walked out of the woods returned safely after police had organized search parties.

Mike Werthum of Lake Cowichan, reported missing since Saturday noon, found his way out by himself Sunday morning and Richard Paila and Herbert Wiltre, both of Victoria, were located by loggers of the Cayuse camp.

LAKE COWICHAN—Would-be safecrackers at the local liquor store, who entered the premises Saturday night by has received a contract from the department of national defence for a supply of special diving suits for Arctic use. The contract is for $10,943.

NANAIMO—The school board has appointed Frank Sloat, a senior teacher, to the new position of administrative assistant at the school.

The salary has not yet been set, and trustee Harry Godfrey will submit a recommendation.

The board set salaries for summer school teachers at the same rates as those for night school.

Around the Island

breaking a rear window, apparently were disturbed at work—and escaped.

Police said nothing was taken. The thieves had moved a heavy safe from one room into the main office and tried to chase it open.

NANAIMO—Sergeants of "B" company, Princess Mary's Canadian Scottish Regiment, entertained members of their unit and others of the 68th Light Anti-Aircraft battery at a reunion at the Nanaimo military camp Saturday.

The entertainment consisted of speakers, piping and dancing, followed by a buffet style supper.

Major Herb Harris, officer commanding the Scottish unit, Major J. B. Curran, and Major Duncan Fraser of Quailcum were the speakers.

NANAIMO—The annual fall meeting of the association of Kinmen Clubs, with governor Stan Mossop of Victoria as chairman, was held here at the weekend.

Some 75 members from Vancouver and all over Vancouver Island attended.

NANAIMO—Elmer George Jacobsen, manager for the last 18 months of the Simpsons Sears store in Nanaimo, died suddenly at his home at 185 Garner Crescent Sunday.

Mr. Jacobsen, who came to Nanaimo from Toronto, had taken an active part in the life of the city during the short time he had lived here.

He is survived by his wife, Leona Eleanor; three brothers, Peter in Sacramento, Clarence in Roseville, Calif., and Raymond in Colorado. Two sisters, Mrs. Elma Reynolds and Mrs. Myrtle Schewel survive at Omaha.

NANAIMO—Seaport Industries Ltd., a subsidiary of Island Divers Ltd. of Nanaimo.

Repair Crews Active As Storm Pounds Island

Winds of up to 80 miles an hour and torrential rains Sunday kept telephone and power crews busy far into the night in many parts of the island, but power was restored in all areas by 3 a.m. Monday.

A B.C. Telephone official said approximately 800 phones were out at one time in the Duncan area but most services were restored partially by emergency measures.

At the Western Forest Industries logging camp at Meade Creek, sudden snowfall interrupted operations yesterday and no crews will be working today.

At Gordon River camp of the same company, crews were unable to reach their marshalling point due to washed-out roads yesterday, but officials said the operation would be resumed today.

At the B.C. Forest Products operation at Cayuse, windfalls on logging roads hampered crews but only one skidder was not working. Full logging will go on today.

Brisk weather kept B.C. Hydro repair crews and highway department employees busy trying to maintain communications disrupted by falling trees and floods caused by 2.6 inches of rain.

Departure Bay, Hammond Bay, Lantzville and Rutherford Road areas were all without power for some time Saturday afternoon.

The Todaro highway was out for about 12 hours by a wash-out.

Turkeys For Toys!

The more toys, the more turkeys.

This simple equation will be the key to success at the Kinsmen Giant Christmas Bingo one week from today, spokesman Jack Phillion says.

FREE TICKETS

More than 7,000 bingo fans—all with one or more toys—will be at the door of the Memorial Arena in exchange for a free ticket on turkey draws—are expected in the 7,800-capacity arena.

An added bonus awaits bingoists as well—many extra games over and above the usual 14, says Mr. Phillion.

TO AID 500 FUND

The giant bingo game, proven over the years to be the most popular of all, is partly in aid of the Colonist 500 Christmas Fund.

How?

Well, the Kinsmen will donate the turkeys. The toys will be auctioned off at Maynard's Dec. 14, and the money netted will go toward the 500 Fund.

DON'T FORGET TOYS

"Don't forget to bring the toys," says Mr. Phillion.

Remember—turkeys for toys.

RCMP Story For Kiwanis

RCMP Assistant Commissioner D. O. Forrest will tell the RCMP story at a luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Victoria North at 6:15 p.m. today at the Tally Ho Travelodge.

Defenders Testing Emergency Plans

NANAIMO—Civil defence chiefs estimate that in the event of atomic attack on this coast, 100,000 people can be expected to attempt to reach this part of Vancouver Island from Seattle, Vancouver and Victoria.

This would mean coming with an influx of 5,000 or more cars and 2,000 boats, at one time.

Exercise "Advance 5," carried out here Saturday, was a mockup of what would happen in such emergency and how the situation would be met, with special consideration for communications problems and administration at both the provincial and municipal levels.

Co-ordinator Harold E. Snider said the exercise had been completed successfully.

The 2,000 boats would be dispersed all along the coast in various small bays, and Jack Clark, manager of the local employment office called attention to his authority to call on any able-bodied person to contribute his or her services.

The exercise was designed to test facilities north and west of Nanaimo only.

Victims of the Nov. 19 crash were Roberta Brittain, 3, daughter of Mrs. Donald Brittain, 1343 Esquimalt Road, and Mrs. Elizabeth Dick, 41, formerly of Victoria, and pilot John Bentley Minor, 36.

The course would train pilots to rely completely on instruments when fog or clouds move in.

Repairmen Busy

Storm Rattles Alberni Valley

PORT ALBERNI—Hydro and telephone crews today are repairing extensive damage in the Alberni Valley in the wake of a weekend of storms, and one man was hospitalized as a direct result of the gale that whipped through the area Sunday.

The access road to the district was cut to one lane of traffic when a slide occurred at Angel Rock on Alberni highway Saturday.

NARROW ESCAPE: Hundreds of trees crashed down before the wind and Charles Randall, Fayette Road, narrowly escaped being killed when one fell across his car on Rogers Street near Victoria Quay. He escaped with a broken nose but his vehicle was extensively damaged.

Jack Jowsey of Jowsey's Home Variety and Electric, Alberni, is in West Coast General Hospital being treated for a fractured left ankle. He was caught by a gust of wind and toppled to the sidewalk as he attempted to secure the sign on the front of his store.

Booms of logs in the harbor were whipped around by the waves, but a spokesman for MacMillan Bloedel & Powell River Ltd. said that the damage was lighter than might have been expected considering the force of the storm. A boat patrolled the booms during most of the storm and logs were fended away from freighters at the docks.

It is estimated that all logs which had jumped out of the two chimney fires during the storm.

Telegraph and telephone wires were cut between Alberni and Nanaimo, cutting off communications for some hours.

Nominations

Island Cities Set for Vote

Municipal politics slid into high gear in major centres of the Island yesterday as nominations closed for the Dec. 6 elections. The roundup of candidates which begins here continues on page 9.

NANAIMO

Three aldermanic vacancies exist. Seeking election will be incumbents D. M. Greer and John Parker, and Mrs. Mega MacDougal. Seeking election to three school trustee vacancies will be incumbent Harold Godfrey, Jack Williams, R. A. Fox and Elizabeth Rogers.

COURTENAY

Three aldermanic vacancies are to be filled. Seeking re-election are Syd Williams, Sandy Strachan and George Hobson. Robert Lay and William Finlayson will also run. Lawrence Hartman was named to the lone school board vacancy by acclamation.

BUNCLAY

Three contestants will try for two vacancies on city council. Running besides incumbents James H. Saunders and Robert K. Cairns is Robert J. Mason.

ALBERNI

Two incumbents are among the seven candidates seeking election to three vacancies on city council. The incumbents: W. A. Anderson and T. E. Hamilton. Others: C. R. James, J. C. Jones, Joseph Lynn, Kenneth MacKenzie and Alma Worhaug. One school board vacancy is being contested by Ralph Giffill and B. E. Knowles. The other by G. W. Grey and Edward C. Spencer.

PORT ALBERNI

Two incumbents—G. J. Fekard and W. T. G. Goddard—are among four candidates seeking three seats on council. Others running are D. E. McIntosh and G. A. McKnight. Elected school trustees by acclamation were C. E. Anshelm and T. J. E. Rutter.

THREE HURT

Three were injured in the violent collision.

The car collided head-on at about 10:30 p.m. south of Gysler River bridge with a panel truck driven by John Cameron, about 40, of Victoria, who received serious head injuries.

Passenger in the truck was Alfred Codrre, of Victoria, about 40, who was released after treatment in Campbell River hospital.

BAD CORNER

The crash occurred in an 8-bend known to older residents as Flag Diner corner where three people died in an accident several years ago and six teenagers in a car rammed a power pole and were badly injured.

In a 1956 accident at the same spot, a man was blinded.

by a row of assorted Hawaiian candles, coal oil lanterns and gas lamps.

This was the thing to do, after all, there were no electric lights in the days when Moliere wrote the play.

The performance was worth the wait. It caught a lot of the 17th century atmosphere, though necessarily a little shadowy, it was elegantly set and costumed.

Adrian Pecknold played Tartuffe excellently. Keith Tracy as Cleante was particularly good in that he not only caught his character admirably but he also added bright little technical details—such as his movements and posture—which were right in keeping with the play.

Dave Massey's Orgon, a trifle uncertain to start with, blossomed into a sparkling and delightful characterization. As Mariane, Nirmal Gill acted well and she has an exceptionally pleasing speaking voice.

Added Pecknold's Elmire—

with the slight reservation that she could have been somewhat stronger in her second act interludes with Orgon—was excellent.

As Dorine, the inquisitive maid to Mariane, Jeanette Sumner busybodied her way through the whole two acts most effectively. Tom Bulman, as an officer, made a notable contribution even though his was only a small part.

Eva Wilson's Mme. Pernelle lacked dignity and poise. She put over her viewpoint, but was unconvincingly rough in doing so. Tony Fandille's Damis was acceptable but Lawrence Fok's Valere was rather weak.

The play was excellently directed by Sam Payne of UBC's Extension Department.

Finally, and as a fitting climax to an enjoyable afternoon, the lights sprang to life for the final curtain call. It was pleasant indeed to see clearly the people who had made it so.

'COLUMBIA SABOTAGED' ---BENNETT

By TERRY HAMMOND
Colonist Legislative Reporter

External Affairs Minister Green is sabotaging B.C.'s negotiations with the U.S. on Columbia River development, Premier Bennett charged.

His statement came yesterday at a press conference marking his return from New York where he completed a $25,000,000 B.C. Toll Authority loan and set up a syndicate of major U.S. financial houses to finance the Peace River hydro project.

'BETTER DEAL'
The premier said Mr. Green has told the U.S. state department the U.S. can get a better deal than the price B.C. has insisted it must get before agreeing to proceed on the Columbia. "Mr. Green keeps saying the premier of British Columbia will give in," he stated.

But when a reporter asked him to elaborate on the charge he continued only on an "off-the-record" basis. Later he said he had no intention of retreating from B.C.'s present terms for Columbia development.

'NOT FOR U.S.'
"As long as I am premier, British Columbia will never build these three dams (Mica, High Arrow and Duncan) and flood these valleys just to give power to the United States." B.C. has demanded a price of five mills, or the equivalent, for its share of the downstream power entitlement. The five-mill price, according to the premier, is "not for U.S."

TORONTO (CP)—Howard Green's reaction last night to Mr. Bennett's statement: "This is a complete untruth and has all the earmarks of being an alibi."

REDS COOL
TO TALK ON ARMS

GENEVA (UPI)—The U.S. said Monday the Cuban crisis showed the urgent need for East-West agreements on disarmament and nuclear tests. The Soviet response was cool.

President Kennedy and U.S. negotiator Arthur Dean urged the reconvening 17-nation disarmament conference to grasp a new opportunity following the Cuban and Indian crises to end nuclear testing and "unlock the gates to the future" with a disarmament treaty.

But Russia's Semyon Tsarapkin repeated demands for an uncontrolled test ban and radical disarmament without built-in controls. "This 'hard line' caused a drop in optimism with which some Western and neutral delegations had greeted the resumption of talks."

Word Today On Grey Cup

OTTAWA (UPI)—The CBC is expected to announce today the way has been cleared for it to carry Saturday's Grey Cup football telecast without defying the Board of Broadcast Governors, it was learned Monday.

Secrets

British Woman Accused

LONDON (Reuters)—A senior woman officer of the British office of information has been summoned under the Official Secrets Act, it was learned Monday night.

Two summonses have been served on the woman. She will appear in a magistrate's court here Wednesday.

The woman has been summoned under a section of the act which deals with unauthorized disclosure of information.

NAME WITHHELD

Maximum penalty under the section is two years.

Newspaper reports say the 40-year-old woman—her name has been withheld by authorities—is accused of passing secrets to a member of a foreign embassy, but that there is no suggestion she passed any crucial information to a possible enemy.

Glassco Raps Ottawa Job As Landlord

OTTAWA (CP)—Creation of two central organizations to handle purchasing and manage property was recommended today in the second Glassco royal commission report on government organization.

The 200,000-word report takes a careful and sometimes critical look at seven fields in which the government provides itself with goods and services.

KEY PROPOSALS
Key proposals are the public works department be reshaped as the central body in charge of property and a department of purchasing and supply be fashioned out of the defence production department.

Authors are Grant Glassco, 57, Toronto business executive; Watson Sellar, 68, of Ottawa, retired auditor-general of Canada; and Eugene Therrien, 56, of Montreal, insurance company executive.

MAIN TARGET
One of the main targets of today's report, second of five, is costly red tape.

It suggests a solution of the problem lies in more, not less, centralization. It argues department heads should be freed of responsibility for many supporting services secondary to the main job of government.

On construction, for instance, the report says "there are discernible tendencies in some departments to get into the business themselves."

John D Aim: Reform Parliament

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker called Monday for reform of Parliament to make it more effective with longer sitting hours, shorter session periods and agreed time limits on debating individual subjects.

But he clearly left attainment of these reforms up to the three opposition parties. He told the Commons that "we'll make Parliament as efficient as they permit" and said slow House progress is no fault of the government's because its legislation is ready.

TWO PASSED
Mr. Diefenbaker was replying to the opposition parties which called Monday for a detailed agenda of business the government intends to initiate in the Commons before the Christmas adjournment, dates of which are not yet set.

After 41 sitting days since Parliament convened Sept. 27, only two measures have been passed—an amendment to the Export Credits Insurance Act, and one interim supply bill.

READY
The prime minister said 29 pieces of government legislation are ready for parliamentary debate.

But he said the government refuses to use closure to cut off House debates, and also refuses to accept any charge that delays are due to lack of government leadership or preparedness.

Floods Fatal In Sahara

TUNIS (AP)—At least 40 persons died and hundreds were injured Monday as floods caused by torrential rains spilled over fringe areas of the Tunisian Sahara.

Amalgamation

Last Chance In Saanich?

By JACK FRY
Second of a Series

Saanich voters will go to the polls Dec. 6 to vote on the question: Are you in favor of amalgamation of the district of Saanich with the city of Victoria?

Forces opposing amalgamation in Saanich have formed their basic battle line for the series of public debates preceding the municipal election and its amalgamation referendum.

The late entry of former councillor Leslie Passmore into the race has created a three-pronged attack against amalgamationists.

NEW STRENGTH
New strength was added to an already well-organized "vote-no" campaign.

A solid slate of opposition was formed by the Old Guard. But, most important, a doubt was raised if ratepayers will have any further say in the matter if they vote in favor of the referendum.

LEVER
Mr. Passmore implied in his announcement of candidacy that "amalgamationist forces could use a yes vote as a lever in persuading the provincial government to force amalgamation of Saanich and Victoria."

Amalgamation interests have claimed repeatedly a yes vote would authorize a study of the terms of amalgamation and a second vote would be required to bring about amalgamation.

SCHOOL DISTRICT
Saanich voters have no guarantee the government will not interfere in the issue, charged Mr. Passmore.

Persons who lived in Saanich in 1916 will recall the government "did not hesitate" to consolidate school districts in Greater Victoria without reference to the ratepayers, he said.

A TRIGGER?
Victoria ratepayers in 1958 voted 67 per cent in favor of amalgamation, and a yes vote from Saanich could trigger government intervention, he suggested.

There can be no doubt some voters will be influenced by Mr. Passmore's argument. The government itself probably would have to give assurance a "hands off" policy will be followed, before these voters change their minds.

Drop H-Bombs on China!

Midair Crash Kills 27

SAO PAULO (AP)—A Brazilian airliner and a light private plane collided in flight and crashed Monday in a mountainous area 65 miles north of here. All 27 persons aboard the two planes perished.

The planes fell near the small town of Paraiuna.

LONDON (AP)—Julian wipe out one city a day until they do. "I think the Russians would be grateful if the Chinese were taught a lesson."

The Daily Sketch said editorially today—that when Duncan Sandys returns from India he should take his son aside and tell him "all over again the facts of life in the nuclear age."

'TRUMP CARD'
"Our trump card is the H-bomb, which the Chinese have not got," he said. "And my personal plan is to deliver an ultimatum to them that if they do not withdraw from India we will."

Softer Line Unlikely From Cuba's Castro

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Top U.S. negotiators met with Soviet trouble shooter Anastas I. Mikoyan Monday night but apparently received little assurance that Cuban Premier Fidel Castro is ready to adopt a softer line toward the United States.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson said the U.S. negotiators will meet Wednesday for further discussions with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov. Stevenson said the meeting will be "quite important."

Mikoyan told reporters on his arrival by plane in New York that the agreement reached between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev on removal of Soviet weapons from Cuba opened up the possibility of improved U.S.-Cuban relations.

Informed sources said that the United States has told that it cannot accept Castro's demands as contained in a Soviet-Cuban proposal relayed by the secretary-general last week.

The discussions took place at a dinner arranged by Acting Secretary-General U. Thant a few hours after the Soviet first deputy premier returned from talks in Havana.

Fulton Delays
B.C. Decision

VANCOUVER (CP)—Works Minister Fulton said Monday a decision whether he will enter B.C. politics will await until he returns to Ottawa. He spent the day talking with officials of the B.C. Progressive Conservative Association and personal friends about a move to draft him as leader of the B.C. party.

U.S. Boosts
Army Size

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Army will expand its strength by 20,000 men through increased draft calls over the next six months, the defence department announced Monday.

It said the expansion, raising authorized army strength to 980,000, would be "temporary" and could be achieved through "slightly increased" draft calls.

Little Things Often Mean So Much

Little things like toys and bingo markers count a lot when it comes to the help Victoria's 500 neediest families will get from The Daily Colonist 500 Christmas Fund.

The season's magic spirit has faded for many mothers and fathers—because finances have gone flat, sickness has struck or a job has suddenly disappeared.

But an auction of toys to the highest bidder each year helps turn sadness back to sunshine.

Maynard's toy auction, held yearly in co-operation with the 500 Fund, takes place this time Friday, Dec. 14, in Maynard's Auction Rooms at 731-33 Johnson.

Many of the toys will be collected Tuesday, Dec. 4, when a toy left at the door of the Kinsmen Giant Bingo in Memorial Arena could win a turkey, donated by the Kinsmen. (See also Page 17.) All funds realized from the Art Koof of Reliable Transfer aids the toy drive by trucking donations from the arena to Maynard's and the auctioneers also take toys for sale on consignment, donating their commission to the 500 Fund.
